Californians Put Whale In Fish Bowl

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. (AP)—Southern California, headquarters for odd attractions, today has a new one to bedazzle the tourists: a whale in a fish bowl.

Furthermore, it's a girl whale with a beak. And she has an unlikely name for a budding monster: Martha Washington.

The guys who caught and tanked the rare young stray from polar waters have bruises to prove that she's a whale for sure.

The saga of the sea started Tuesday when Al Hansen, a skin diver, spotted the mammal beached in a kelp bed at offshore Santa Catalina Island. He and four companions towed her to a harbor on the island, tied a rope to her tail, then wrestled for seven hours to get her loaded into a big skiff for ferrying to Marineland of the Pacific, a big oceanarium at the Los Angeles County Beach community.

At the Marineland dock it took 10 men and two cranes to transfer Martha to a tank.

Curator Kenneth Norris of Marineland identified the mammal as a rare Cuvier's beaked whale, a native of North Atlantic polar waters. They occasionally are found in the Northern Pacific, but this is the first ever caught south of Canada. The "beak," incidentally, actually is an extended lower jaw.

Martha is a youngster—4 or 5 years old, 1,200 pounds, 14 feet long. Beaked whales grow to 28 feet, and that could be a problem for a whale in a tank.

The curator says his new star attraction is the only whale in captivity in this country, if not the world.

"We haven't fed it yet, but it should eat squid and mackerel," he said. "Since it beached itself we thought it may have been sick so we gave it a massive dose of penicillin, plus some vitamins to try to induce it to eat."

2 Buckeye Solons Rap Legislation

Farmers Union Chief Sees Measure As Only 'Raising False Hopes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio officials appear to be convinced that the present farm legislation before Congress will do Buckeye farmers more harm than good.

One of the officials, Joseph Fichter of Oxford, chairman of the Ohio Farmers Union, says he doubts the bill now being debated by the Senate will not do much more for Ohio farmers than "raise a lot of false hopes."

The other two Ohioans, both Republican congressmen, complain that Southern Democrats dominating the House Agriculture Committee are neglecting the needs of farmers of the Midwest.

Reps. Bow and Henderson say the committee is determined to sidetrack legislation to help small wheat farmers in Ohio and other states.

This measure, backed by the Eisenhower administration and passed by the Senate, would exempt from acreage controls wheat raised exclusively for use on the farms.

There was activity elsewhere, meanwhile, by Ohioans interested in farm issues. About 40 members of the Ohio Farmers Union were here continuing arguments against the soil bank plan contained in the Senate farm bill.

THE PROPOSAL calls for farmers to be paid for taking certain land from production of crops already in surplus.

Fichter declared that this voluntary program would hurt Ohio wheat and corn farmers.

"There has already been a drastic reduction in the so-called basic crops," he said. "With a 30 per cent additional reduction, some Ohio farmers would be cut down so low that they couldn't meet expenses."

Proponents of the bill mentioned by Bow and Henderson say it's needed to give small farms more freedom from federal control.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) and other committee members of both parties, however, contend it would simply add to the enormous wheat surplus.

Bow insisted the real reason for committee inaction on this bill is the many southerners on the committee are interested chiefly in legislation helping farmers in their area. He asserted:

"If anyone wonders why tobacco takes preference over wheat and corn in committee work, let him read the committee roster.

"In order of seniority on the majority (Democratic) side we have men from North Carolina, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, South Carolina, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Virginia."

There is only one Ohioan, Democrat James Polk, on the committee, said Bow, and he is in ninth position.

"THIS EXPLAINS some of the difficulties we are having in getting recognition for the wheat bill," said Bow.

"Several hundred small farmers now face indictment and prosecution for exceeding acreage allotments even though they did not sell or intend to sell a bushel of grain. The secretary of agriculture does not think they should be prosecuted. Present law leaves no alternative."

Henderson said he agreed with Bow, adding that he thought Far West congressmen in the committee also are blocking the wheat bill.

Fichter acknowledged that the soil bank plan would include payments to farmers for the land they idled.

But he said his organization believes this provision is too vague, and puts too much authority into the hands of the secretary of agriculture as to how much would be paid.

Commenting on the Senate bill in its entirety, Fichter said what is needed is to raise the level of parity supports to 100 per cent for all farm commodities.

Traffic Regulation Changes Considered by City Council

Although only four councilmen were at the Wednesday night session of city council, a number of ordinances were placed on their first readings and various other matters were discussed briefly.

No action was taken toward filling the vacancy in council caused by the death of Councilman John Weade.

As a tribute to him council, at the suggestion of City Manager George F. Parkinson, arose and stood with bowed heads for a few moments. Council then adopted a resolution of regret over the loss of Councilman Weade.

The first ordinance submitted was one to enter into a contract with Concord and Green Townships for an interchange of one piece of fire equipment and two firemen in cases of emergency.

This had been discussed for sometime and both Green and Concord Township trustees had adopted resolutions approving such an agreement. Trustees, the city manager or the fire chiefs of the city and townships will determine when such an emergency exists.

The ordinance was read and, for lack of sufficient members present to suspend rules and pass it, it was carried over until the next meeting, as were the other ordinances read the first time.

THE SECOND ordinance, numbered 700, repeals an ordinance passed some time ago fixing pay of volunteer firemen at $3 for every call answered and increases the amount to $5 per call when the call is between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M. The $3 prevails at all other times.

An ordinance appropriating $800 from the street maintenance and repair fund, for having experienced men erect the new Armco Steelox building on the city's lot at the end of North Fayette Street was read the first time.

City Manager Parkinson explained that the additional appropriation was asked because of the busy weeks ahead for the street crew which is giving much attention to improving drainage, cleaning sewers, building new catch basins and doing other necessary work.

Original plans were for the street crew to erect the structure, the foundations of which are already laid.

An ordinance was then given its first reading to exclude the small tract of ground west of Hinde Street, south of Court Street and north of the Pennsylvania Railroad, from the fire zone so that new buildings can be erected by the Fayette Farm Service there.

PARKINSON told Council that investigation regarding the new traffic light system was still underway, that much valuable information had been obtained and that an engineer would be here for conference within the next few days.

Plans Take Form Now For Baldridge Trial

Preparations for trial of George Baldridge, who is charged with the second degree murder of Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick, Nov. 15, are now taking form.

The trial is to open Monday at 9 A. M. in Common Pleas Court here, with Judge John P. Case on the bench. The work of impaneling a jury to hear the evidence will be started soon after the case begins.

Work of thoroughly cleaning the court room was under way Thursday and in anticipation of crowds exceeding the capacity of the 64 seats in the spectators section of the court room, Judge Case has announced that the same procedure in handling spectators will be followed that was carried out at the last murder trial.

Spectators are to be limited to the number of seats in the court room; no one will be permitted to stand in the court room while the trial is under way.

The doors of the court room will be locked until just before the opening of the session; those seeking admission must stand in line in the corridor and on the stairs from the corridor below.

No crowding will be tolerated about the door in entering or leaving the court room, it was emphasized.

When court adjourns for the noon recess, the court room will be cleared and doors locked. They will be unlocked when court begins the afternoon sessions. Likewise the doors will be locked after court adjourns for the day and not unlocked until the following morning when court opens.

SPECTATORS must remain quiet and no loitering will be permitted in the corridor outside of the court room while court is in session.

In all probability prospective jurors will all be called into the court

Alabama Negro Prayer-Walk Program Set

Montgomery Citizens Protesting Against Mass Indictments

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Dozens of new bus boycott arrests were being made today in the face of a mass meeting tonight of 10,000 Negroes praying for "justice to prevail."

And to emphasize their determination, boycott leaders proclaimed tomorrow as "Prayer Pilgrimage Day." They said every "race-loving" Negro will shun all motor vehicles and walk wherever they go on that day.

Scores of Negroes crowded outside the Montgomery County Jail yesterday and watched quietly as 73 of 115 persons indicted for boycotting were brought in and booked.

The 73 taken into custody, all Negroes, included several political leaders and 23 ministers. All were released in $300 bond.

The wholesale arrests followed a report by the Montgomery County grand jury, which named 115 persons as active participants in the boycott, now in its 12th week in protest against racial segregation.

THE MASS meeting tonight and the no-ride "pilgrimage" tomorrow were announced by the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, one of those indicted for boycotting and pastor of the First Baptist Church, where the "prayer for justice" meeting will be held.

High Court OKs 4 Convictions

UnAmerican Activities Probe Citations Upheld

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction of Mrs. Anna Morgan of Columbus and three Cincinnati men on charges of contempt of the Ohio UnAmerican Activities Commission. The court split, 4-3.

Mrs. Morgan, wife of the former curator of Ohio State Museum, and the others refused to answer questions at a commission hearing about alleged Communist connections.

The others are Joseph Stern and Emmett C. Brown, both of Cincinnati, and Talmadge Raley of Sidney, formerly of Cincinnati.

All three refused to answer questions at a hearing in Cincinnati Oct. 20, 1952.

In affirming the convictions, the Supreme Court said that "where there is a statutory immunity granted the witness, which affords as much protection against self-incrimination as that to which he is entitled by the Constitution, the witness has a duty to give testimony free from a refusal to answer based upon the rule of self-incrimination."

THE HIGH COURT said "the

Ag Bill Debate Opens In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over flexible vs. rigid farm price supports shifted from committee rooms to the Senate floor today.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) called for a return to higher supports levels as the only means to "put more dollars into the farmers' pockets without delay."

But even as he opened debate on the election year farm bill, an amendment was offered to continue the present flexible scale.

Voting on this and other controversial provisions of the measure will not start before next week at the earliest.

Ellender pleaded for a final vote early next week, saying passage by both the Senate and the House should be completed by March 15 "if this bill is to do any good at all during the 1956 crop year."

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said, "We'll be lucky to get a final Senate vote by next Thursday or Friday."

ELLENDER IS chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, which by an 8-7 vote included a return to high, rigid price supports on basic crops in an omnibus farm bill which also would establish a soil bank and acreage reserve system of crop reduction asked by President Eisenhower.

The measure also would make a number of other changes in farm laws designed largely to halt a decline in farm prices and farmers' income. A number of senators, offering amendments, indicated they hope to rewrite sections of the bill on the floor.

Sen. Young (R-ND) said that if present flexible supports are continued, they will break most wheat farmers. And they will do nothing, he contended, to reduce crop surpluses.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse told the House Agriculture Committee yesterday that the administration's soil bank plan could cut in half the present federal outlays for farm surplus storage.

The farm price support program now costs the government approxi-

Gore Expected To Head Probe

8 Senators To Study Lobby Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) appeared today to be in line to head a special committee created by the Senate and given broad powers to search for any improper or illegal lobbying or campaign financing.

Four Democratic and four Republican senators are to be named to the investigating committee later in the day.

The appointments are to be made by Vice President Nixon, on the recommendations of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California.

Gore was going ahead with plans for a broad investigation by the Senate Elections subcommittee, of which he is chairman, when Senate leaders stepped in and said they favored setting up a special bipartisan committee to conduct the inquiry.

Johnson and Knowland joined in sponsoring the move for an election-year investigation of "attempts to influence improperly or illegally" the Senate or its members through campaign contributions, political activities, lobbying or any other practices.

BEFORE THE resolution was adopted by a 79-1 vote, it was broadened to cover any attempts to exert similar influence on candidates for the Senate "or any officer or employe of the executive branch" of the government.

The new eight-member committee is authorized to spend up to $350,000 and is directed to submit a final report by Jan. 1. It will submit recommendations for tightening election and lobbying laws.

The only vote against creation of the committee was cast by Sen. Langer (R-ND). He said influence peddling is "old as the hills" and the Senate would do better to get on with passing an elections reform bill pending on its calendar since last June.

Ike Aides All Deny Story Big Boss Says He Will Run

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary says that as far as he himself knows, the chief executive has passed word to no one on whether he will seek reelection.

James C. Hagerty made that statement to newsmen late yesterday in breaking silence for the first time to discuss some aspects of the big question: Will Eisenhower run again?

Hagerty did not come anywhere close to answering the question. For that matter, a literal interpretation of his own statement, that Eisenhower has passed word to no one, would mean Hagerty doesn't know the answer for sure anyway.

But he did deny a published report that the President's chief aide Sherman Adams had told Republican leaders Eisenhower had decided to bid for reelection and would say so publicly next week.

"I asked Sherman about that and he said he never made any such statement," Hagerty said in reply to inquiries.

THE DETROIT News, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said yesterday that Adams and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had informed party leaders the President would announce for reelection next week.

Hagerty said he had not asked Hall about the matter. But Hall said in Washington when asked about the report:

"It's news to me."

Until yesterday Hagerty had refused to discuss any aspect of the second term question. He had said "no comment" scores of times.

He surprised reporters prepared to argue with him when he readily agreed yesterday that they were entitled to know if any White House official such as Adams was passing word that Eisenhower would run again.

So Hagerty said he had checked by telephone with Adams, who was in Washington, and that Adams denied passing any word.

Today Hall declared:

"As I have said many times, I have not asked President Eisenhower whether he would be a candidate for a second term, nor has he told me his intentions.

"My own personal opinion is surely no secret. I have expressed it often. I have been making plans for the convention and the campaign on the assumption that President Eisenhower would be the candidate for a second term. I also have said that I personally believed he would run if he felt he was able."

While Cops Plot, Cops Get Robbed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police huddled in closed session yesterday, hatching plans to stop a wave of burglaries.

While they were conferring, someone took $40 in change and several packs of cigarettes from a vending machine in another part of police headquarters.

Dayton Officials Disagree On Feb. 22 As 'Holiday'

DAYTON (AP)—Is Washington's birthday a legal holiday? Local police don't seem to think so. They handed out tickets and towed away cars for overparking yesterday. The parking meters specifically exempt motorists from paying on holidays.

Lt. R. M. Igleburger, the police department's traffic chief, said the department does not regard Washington's Birthday as a holiday because it isn't listed as such in the city code. But when motorists went to the city office where they usually pay the tickets, they were greeted with a shuttered window and a sign saying:

"Closed, legal holiday."

No Severe Cold Reported In U. S.

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with light rain, snow and cloudy skies in most areas. No severe cold or storms were reported.

Heaviest precipitation in the last 24 hours was along the Pacific Coast and Idaho with falls measuring around 2 inches.

Light snow continued in most of the Dakotas and rain or snow hit sections of the lower Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and Arkansas and Tennessee.

Uranium Release Challenges Soviet

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's new program for releasing $1 billion worth of uranium at home and abroad for peaceful atomic projects presented a challenge to Russia today to follow suit.

The President announced late yesterday that the United States will make available 88,000 pounds of atomic material, uranium 235, to pioneer American firms and to friendly nations in a demonstration of "our faith that the atom can be a powerful instrument for the promotion of world peace."

His announcement came just one day after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin had stated that "we Communists must fully place the greatest discovery of the 20th century—atomic energy — at the service of . . . the cause of building communism."

Bulganin pictured Russia as "ahead of other countries" in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, but did not talk of sharing atomic materials.

Actually, Eisenhower barred distribution of any of the 88,000 pounds of U. S. U-235 to the Soviet Union and its satellites, as well as to any other nations presently producing the material.

BUT WITH THOSE exceptions the President said the supply will be furnished "over a period of years" for research and development purposes and for fueling nuclear power reactors both "at home and abroad."

Half of the supply, 44,000 pounds, will be leased in the United States for civilian purposes, "principally for power reactors," Eisenhower said.

The other half will be sold or leased abroad for peaceful purposes, mainly research and power reactors. That 44,000 pounds is in addition to 440 pounds already made available for research reactors abroad.

The President said distribution "will be subject to prudent safeguards against diversion of the materials to non-peaceful purposes." And he said that releasing the supply won't interfere with carrying out "our responsibilities in the development of atomic energy for the common defense and security of the United States."

Why "Statehood for Alaska?"

One of our photographers drives a car with a sticker saying "Statehood for Alaska" on the window. Several people have asked him why a Fayette County resident should be interested in Alaskan statehood.

It's really very simple.

The sticker came with the car. And our photographer, being sentimental, refuses to remove it.

"The car's travelled a whale of a lot farther than I have," he explains.

The original owner, a reporter also, bought the car in Texas City, Texas. He was working on a newspaper there at the time. He cleared out of town shortly after cleaning out a gambling ring with the help of his city editor.

He spent the last weeks in Texas City carrying a .32 cal. revolver in his pocket — and eventually hied himself up to Anchorage, Alaska, and the Anchorage News-Miner.

He worked on that paper a year — still driving what is now our photographer's car — then came back to Ohio to finish his college training.

He sold the car after driving from Texas to Alaska to Ohio, bought a station wagon and went back up to the nation's last frontier, Alaska.

Why "Statehood for Alaska?"

Simple.

He believed in it.

UnAmerican Activities Probe Citations Upheld

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction of Mrs. Anna Morgan of Columbus and three Cincinnati men on charges of contempt of the Ohio UnAmerican Activities Commission. The court split, 4-3.

Mrs. Morgan, wife of the former curator of Ohio State Museum, and the others refused to answer questions at a commission hearing about alleged Communist connections.

The others are Joseph Stern and Emmett C. Brown, both of Cincinnati, and Talmadge Raley of Sidney, formerly of Cincinnati.

All three refused to answer questions at a hearing in Cincinnati Oct. 20, 1952.

In affirming the convictions, the Supreme Court said that "where there is a statutory immunity granted the witness, which affords as much protection against self-incrimination as that to which he is entitled by the Constitution, the witness has a duty to give testimony free from a refusal to answer based upon the rule of self-incrimination."

THE HIGH COURT said "the

Ag Bill Debate Opens In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over flexible vs. rigid farm price supports shifted from committee rooms to the Senate floor today.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) called for a return to higher supports levels as the only means to "put more dollars into the farmers' pockets without delay."

But even as he opened debate on the election year farm bill, an amendment was offered to continue the present flexible scale.

Voting on this and other controversial provisions of the measure will not start before next week at the earliest.

Ellender pleaded for a final vote early next week, saying passage by both the Senate and the House should be completed by March 15 "if this bill is to do any good at all during the 1956 crop year."

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said, "We'll be lucky to get a final Senate vote by next Thursday or Friday."

ELLENDER IS chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, which by an 8-7 vote included a return to high, rigid price supports on basic crops in an omnibus farm bill which also would establish a soil bank and acreage reserve system of crop reduction asked by President Eisenhower.

The measure also would make a number of other changes in farm laws designed largely to halt a decline in farm prices and farmers' income. A number of senators, offering amendments, indicated they hope to rewrite sections of the bill on the floor.

Sen. Young (R-ND) said that if present flexible supports are continued, they will break most wheat farmers. And they will do nothing, he contended, to reduce crop surpluses.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse told the House Agriculture Committee yesterday that the administration's soil bank plan could cut in half the present federal outlays for farm surplus storage.

The farm price support program now costs the government approxi-

Gore Expected To Head Probe

8 Senators To Study Lobby Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) appeared today to be in line to head a special committee created by the Senate and given broad powers to search for any improper or illegal lobbying or campaign financing.

Four Democratic and four Republican senators are to be named to the investigating committee later in the day.

The appointments are to be made by Vice President Nixon, on the recommendations of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California.

Gore was going ahead with plans for a broad investigation by the Senate Elections subcommittee, of which he is chairman, when Senate leaders stepped in and said they favored setting up a special bipartisan committee to conduct the inquiry.

Johnson and Knowland joined in sponsoring the move for an election-year investigation of "attempts to influence improperly or illegally" the Senate or its members through campaign contributions, political activities, lobbying or any other practices.

BEFORE THE resolution was adopted by a 79-1 vote, it was broadened to cover any attempts to exert similar influence on candidates for the Senate "or any officer or employe of the executive branch" of the government.

The new eight-member committee is authorized to spend up to $350,000 and is directed to submit a final report by Jan. 1. It will submit recommendations for tightening election and lobbying laws.

The only vote against creation of the committee was cast by Sen. Langer (R-ND). He said influence peddling is "old as the hills" and the Senate would do better to get on with passing an elections reform bill pending on its calendar since last June.

Why "Statehood for Alaska?"

One of our photographers drives a car with a sticker saying "Statehood for Alaska" on the window. Several people have asked him why a Fayette County resident should be interested in Alaskan statehood.

It's really very simple.

The sticker came with the car. And our photographer, being sentimental, refuses to remove it.

"The car's travelled a whale of a lot farther than I have," he explains.

The original owner, a reporter also, bought the car in Texas City, Texas. He was working on a newspaper there at the time. He cleared out of town shortly after cleaning out a gambling ring with the help of his city editor.

He spent the last weeks in Texas City carrying a .32 cal. revolver in his pocket — and eventually hied himself up to Anchorage, Alaska, and the Anchorage News-Miner.

He worked on that paper a year — still driving what is now our photographer's car — then came back to Ohio to finish his college training.

He sold the car after driving from Texas to Alaska to Ohio, bought a station wagon and went back up to the nation's last frontier, Alaska.

Why "Statehood for Alaska?"

Simple.

He believed in it.

Dayton Officials Disagree On Feb. 22 As 'Holiday'

DAYTON (AP)—Is Washington's birthday a legal holiday? Local police don't seem to think so. They handed out tickets and towed away cars for overparking yesterday. The parking meters specifically exempt motorists from paying on holidays.

Lt. R. M. Igleburger, the police department's traffic chief, said the department does not regard Washington's Birthday as a holiday because it isn't listed as such in the city code. But when motorists went to the city office where they usually pay the tickets, they were greeted with a shuttered window and a sign saying:

"Closed, legal holiday."

No Severe Cold Reported In U. S.

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with light rain, snow and cloudy skies in most areas. No severe cold or storms were reported.

Heaviest precipitation in the last 24 hours was along the Pacific Coast and Idaho with falls measuring around 2 inches.

Light snow continued in most of the Dakotas and rain or snow hit sections of the lower Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and Arkansas and Tennessee.

Ike Aides All Deny Story Big Boss Says He Will Run

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary says that as far as he himself knows, the chief executive has passed word to no one on whether he will seek reelection.

James C. Hagerty made that statement to newsmen late yesterday in breaking silence for the first time to discuss some aspects of the big question: Will Eisenhower run again?

Hagerty did not come anywhere close to answering the question. For that matter, a literal interpretation of his own statement, that Eisenhower has passed word to no one, would mean Hagerty doesn't know the answer for sure anyway.

But he did deny a published report that the President's chief aide Sherman Adams had told Republican leaders Eisenhower had decided to bid for reelection and would say so publicly next week.

"I asked Sherman about that and he said he never made any such statement," Hagerty said in reply to inquiries.

THE DETROIT News, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said yesterday that Adams and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had informed party leaders the President would announce for reelection next week.

Hagerty said he had not asked Hall about the matter. But Hall said in Washington when asked about the report:

"It's news to me."

Until yesterday Hagerty had refused to discuss any aspect of the second term question. He had said "no comment" scores of times.

He surprised reporters prepared to argue with him when he readily agreed yesterday that they were entitled to know it if any White House official such as Adams was passing word that Eisenhower would run again.

So Hagerty said he had checked by telephone with Adams, who was in Washington, and that Adams denied passing any word.

Today Hall declared:

"As I have said many times, I have not asked President Eisenhower whether he would be a candidate for a second term, nor has he told me his intentions.

"My own personal opinion is surely no secret. I have expressed it often. I have been making plans for the convention and the campaign on the assumption that President Eisenhower would be the candidate for a second term. I also have said that I personally believed he would run if he felt he was able."

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police huddled in closed session yesterday, hatching plans to stop a wave of burglaries.

While they were conferring, someone took $40 in change and several packs of cigarettes from a vending machine in another part of police headquarters.

Uranium Release Challenges Soviet

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's new program for releasing $1 billion worth of uranium at home and abroad for peaceful atomic projects presented a challenge to Russia today to follow suit.

The President announced late yesterday that the United States will make available 88,000 pounds of atomic material, uranium 235, to pioneer American firms and to friendly nations in a demonstration of "our faith that the atom can be a powerful instrument for the promotion of world peace."

His announcement came just one day after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin had stated that "we Communists must fully place the greatest discovery of the 20th century—atomic energy — at the service of . . . the cause of building communism."

Bulganin pictured Russia as "ahead of other countries" in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, but did not talk of sharing atomic materials.

Actually, Eisenhower barred distribution of any of the 88,000 pounds of U. S. U-235 to the Soviet Union and its satellites, as well as to any other nations presently producing the material.

BUT WITH THOSE exceptions the President said the supply will be furnished "over a period of years" for research and development purposes and for fueling nuclear power reactors both "at home and abroad."

Half of the supply, 44,000 pounds, will be leased in the United States for civilian purposes, "principally for power reactors," Eisenhower said.

The other half will be sold or leased abroad for peaceful purposes, mainly research and power reactors. That 44,000 pounds is in addition to 440 pounds already made available for research reactors abroad.

The President said distribution "will be subject to prudent safeguards against diversion of the materials to non-peaceful purposes." And he said that releasing the supply won't interfere with carrying out "our responsibilities in the development of atomic energy for the common defense and security of the United States."

Two Cub Groups Get Charters

Joint Meeting Held At Staunton School

Two rather new Cub Scout groups —the PTO-sponsored Staunton pack and the New Martinsburg neighborhood den—received charters Wednseday night at an event-filled Blue and Gold supper at the Staunton School.

The potluck dinner for boys and girls and their parents started at 6:30 P. M. at the school house with about 20 boys and 35 parents taking part.

Before dinner, the boys led the group in the invocation.

The meeting following the dinner was opened with the Cub Scout ritual by Cubmaster Richard Curl of Staunton. He introduced Kenneth Chaney of the Fayette County Scout Council.

Chaney presented the charter for the neighborhood den, number 344, to New Martinsburg Cubmaster George Grice.

Den Two of the Staunton group sang the Cub Scout welcome song.

Den mother of Staunton Den Two is Mrs. William Summers, assisted by Mrs. Richard Curl.

Den Three of New Martinsburg presented a skit with the theme of "Pirates." Mrs. Joe D. McClure is den mother of that group.

Den One of Staunton also presented a skit, "Buried Treasure". The boys were dressed in pirate costumes they had made themselves.

Mrs. Ray Jennings is den mother of that group, assisted by Mrs. Emerson Marting.

Pack committee chairman William Summers presided over the business meeting.

So far 35 of the original 39 persons notified to appear for prospective jury duty remain unexcused.

Judge Case probably will decide to have a thirteenth juror seated, he indicated Thursday.

In addition to E. S. Young of West Union and Emory Smith of Portsmouth, W. S. Paxson, a Washington C. H. attorney has been retained by Baldridge.

Prosecutor John S. Bath will be assisted by Ray Davis, Circleville attorney, who has volunteered his assistance.

So far the State has called eight witnesses: Sheriff Orland Hays; Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur; Game Protector Jack Kamman of Chillicothe, who was with Patrick at the time he was shot; Frank Boylan, city; Dr. N. M. Reiff, the coroner; Dr. Mal Davis of the Dr. Horace Davidson Laboratories in Columbus; Richard Craig and Joseph Martina, a finger print expert from the state crime laboratory at London.

Patrick was fatally shot the first day of the hunting season after he had arrested D. B. Butler of Seaman, in Adams County, for shooting a hen pheasant. He was friend of Baldridge and had been hunting with him on the Baldridge farm on the Prairie Pike when stopped by the game protection officers.

Baldridge came into Washington C. H., while the wounded Patrick was being rushed to Memorial Hospital, and told Sheriff Hays that he had shot the game protector but that it was an accident.

Betty Adams Is FFA Queen Here

Boys Pick Two Attendants Also

Betty Adams, 17, a blonde and blue eyed Washington C. H. High School senior standing a pert five foot three inches, has been named Queen of the Washington C. H. High School Future Farmers of America chapter.

Betty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Estel Adams of the Rowe-Ging Road and the sister of Mrs. Cleoetta Adams Raines, who was FFA Queen when she was a senior in 1952.

Betty, a member of the FHA and Y-Teens Club at the high school, was freshman homecoming attendant her first year at the high school.

Elected as the Queen's attendants were seniors Patsy Ann Cockerill and Nancy Aills.

Patsy, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cockerill; Nancy, also 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Aills.

The Queen and her attendants will take part in the annual Parent and Son Banquet March 21.

BETTY WILL be entered in the State FFA Queen contest at the Ohio State Fair in August.

In case Betty cannot take part in the August affair, one of the attendants will take her place.

In order to be eligible for FFA Queen, a candidate must live on a farm of 10 acres or more, be a senior in the high school and have at least a "C" grade average.

In discussion of the upcoming parent-son banquet, the boys decided on ham as the main dish for the banquet.

They thought this might help boost the falling price of hogs.

The Washington C. H. FFA chapter is one of two chapters in the county. The Jeffersonville chapter voted Anna Mae Coe as chapter FFA Queen this fall. There are no attendants in Jeffersonville.

"The eyes of the world are focused here waiting to see Southern justice in action.

"It is an American's right to protest against undemocratic and inhuman practices, yet, because we are Negroes, the grand jury has indicted us."

He predicted that at least 10,000 Negroes will attend the meeting tonight "and pray to Almighty God to get into the hearts of Montgomery people so that justice will prevail at the arraignment trials Monday." He added:

"We are expecting these cases to be dismissed. But if they are not, we will take them to the U.S. Supreme Court."

Meanwhile, the 1-A draft status of Fred D. Gray, Negro attorney, has been upheld unanimously by the district appeals board of Alabama.

Gray, assistant pastor at the Holt Street Church of Christ here, had been exempt from service in the armed services under a 4-D or ministerial deferment class. He also has been the chief legal voice of the local Negro bus boycott. He had been classed 4-D since 1948. His local board reclassified him 1-A 10 days ago, making him eligible for the draft, at about the peak of the boycott fuss.

Report on Workshop Made to LWV Here

A report on the all-day workshop on the United Nations that was held earlier this month in Cincinnati was made by two of the four representatives from here when the League of Women Voters held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Morrow here.

Mrs. Paul Craig gave a comprehensive report on the workings of the United Nations as they were outlined at the workshop and Mrs. Morrow told of the accomplishments of United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, a branch of the United Nations dedicated to improving the way of life in backward countries of the World.

The league here also voted on a 4-point legislative program at the request of the state league.

being studied and has proven practical where tried out, reports state.

Councilman Ben Norris brought up the matter of no left turns at the Court and Main and Court and Fayette Street intersections on Saturdays in an effort to relieve congestion and lessen traffic hazards.

This was referred to the Safety Service Committee. Chief Vaiden Long was added to the committee as a consultant.

Councilman Paul Van Voorhis, who presided over the meeting in the absence of President Ronald Cornwell, stated that he and Councilman C. L. Musser had been studying traffic in the up - town area and thought the one - way street plan might help solve the ever increasing traffic problem.

A SHORT TIME was then spent in discussing traffic problems and Norris suggested that a little longer time between traffic light changes might be a big aid to pedestrians crossing the streets.

Parking on only one side of Hinde Street between Court and Market and possible abolishment of all parking on West Court Street from Hinde to the bridge over Paint Creek, and a double parking hazard on South Main Street opposite the Murphy Store about 5 P. M. each week day, also were discussed.

Leo Cox, representing the DAV and again seeking permission for a street carnival on South Main Street between the railroads, was told that a definite answer to his request would be given at the next meeting. It was his fourth visit to council recently.

It was decided to consider a successor to Councilman Weade, who died Feb. 13, at a later meeting when other councilmen were present. No executive session was held.

mately $1 million a day in storage costs alone.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House committee commented he would personally approve legislation providing $1 billion a year in soil bank payments.

A Senate farm bill would provide $100 million more than this figure, with $750 million earmarked for planting reductions under the acreage reserve program and another $350 million for the conservation reserve of forest and rangeland.

The acreage reserve program, a key part of the soil bank, would reward farmers in cash or kind for voluntarily taking out of production land now used for growing basic crops that are in surplus.

Mississippi Showered By Constitution

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The capital of Mississippi now has 5,000 more copies of the U. S. Constitution, the gift of a Chicago Negro disc jockey who wanted to dramatize the school segregation situation.

The Chicagoan, 48-year-old Al Benson, delivered his gift yesterday by airplane. Although he is an amateur pilot, Benson at the last minute decided not to fly the plane himself. He remained in Chicago and hired two white men to shower Jackson with the booklets.

Benson said he wanted to remind Mississippi that the U. S. Supreme Court has "ruled against school segregation."

Some of the booklets reached the ground in readable condition. Others floated down page-by-page in the sunny skies over Jackson—exciting little public or official attention.

In Chicago, Benson had this to say about the scant attention his project received: "That's due to ignorance. That's the trouble, the Constitution has attracted too little attention in Mississippi. That's just what I've been saying."

Gov. J. P. Coleman remarked he had plenty of copies of the Mississippi Constitution if Benson wanted them. An d Brig. Gen. T. B. Birdsong, commissioner of public safety, said prior to the flight: "We could stop him, but don't think it would be worthwhile."

McCarthy Deplores Geneva Friendship

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur last night as "the contemporary George Washington" who never "would have extended the hand of friendship to the Soviet Union as was done last summer at Geneva."

McCarthy spoke before a capacity crowd of 3,000 jamming Carnegie Hall at a rally sponsored by For America, an organization formed for political action, saying:

"From Roosevelt, through Truman, to Eisenhower, we have taught the Asian people how to appease communism, how to retreat from communism, how to sell out to communism—how to surrender to communism."

Earl Eisenhower Sees Second Term

CHICAGO (AP)—Earl Eisenhower, brother of the President, says he believes the President wil lseek a second term.

The youngest of the Eisenhower brothers, who lives in suburban La Grange, said the President's decision will depend on whether he believes he is still needed in the nation's top job.

But, Earl said, "I know what I would do if I were Dwight. I'd retire to that farm in Gettysburg or switch to some other job."

Two Cub Groups Get Charters

Joint Meeting Held At Staunton School

Two rather new Cub Scout groups—the PTO-sponsored Staunton pack and the New Martinsburg neighborhood den—received charters Wednseday night at an event-filled Blue and Gold supper at the Staunton School.

The potluck dinner for boys and girls and their parents started at 6:30 P. M. at the school house with about 20 boys and 35 parents taking part.

Before dinner, the boys led the group in the invocation.

The meeting following the dinner was opened with the Cub Scout ritual by Cubmaster Richard Curl of Staunton. He introduced Kenneth Chaney of the Fayette County Scout Council.

Chaney presented the charter for the neighborhood den, number 344, to New Martinsburg Cubmaster George Grice.

The charter for Staunton Pack 345 was presented to Mrs. Norman Armbrust, president of the Parent-Teacher Organization at Staunton.

Den Two of the Staunton group sang the Cub Scout welcome song.

Den mother of Staunton Den Two is Mrs. William Summers, assisted by Mrs. Richard Curl.

Den Three of New Martinsburg presented a skit with the theme of "Pirates." Mrs. Joe D. McClure is den mother of that group.

Den One of Staunton also presented a skit, "Buried Treasure". The boys were dressed in pirate costumes they had made themselves.

Mrs. Ray Jennings is den mother of that group, assisted by Mrs. Emerson Marting.

Pack committee chairman William Summers presided over the business meeting.

room at the beginning of the case, sworn and told what they are to do while they wait outside the court room until they are accepted or rejected as jurors.

So far 35 of the original 39 persons notified to appear for prospective jury duty remain unexcused.

Judge Case probably will decide to have a thirteenth juror seated, he indicated Thursday.

In addition to E. S. Young of West Union and Emory Smith of Portsmouth, W. S. Paxson, a Washington C. H. attorney has been retained by Baldridge.

Prosecutor John S. Bath will be assisted by Ray Davis, Circleville attorney, who has volunteered his assistance.

So far the State has called eight witnesses: Sheriff Orland Hays; Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur; Game Protector Jack Kamman of Chillicothe, who was with Patrick at the time he was shot; Frank Boylan, city; Dr. N. M. Reiff, the coroner; Dr. Mal Davis of the Dr. Horace Davidson Laboratories in Columbus; Richard Craig and Joseph Martina, a finger print expert from the state crime laboratory at London.

Patrick was fatally shot the first day of the hunting season after he had arrested D. B. Butler of Seaman, in Adams County, for shooting a hen pheasant. He was friend of Baldridge and had been hunting with him on the Baldridge farm on the Prairie Pike when stopped by the game protection officers.

Baldridge came into Washington C. H., while the wounded Patrick was being rushed to Memorial Hospital, and told Sheriff Hays that he had shot the game protector but that it was an accident.

Betty Adams Is FFA Queen Here

Boys Pick Two Attendants Also

Betty Adams, 17, a blonde and blue eyed Washington C. H. High School senior standing a pert five foot three inches, has been named Queen of the Washington C. H. High School Future Farmers of America chapter.

Betty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Estel Adams of the Rowe-Ging Road and the sister of Mrs. Cleoetta Adams Raines, who was FFA Queen when she was a senior in 1952.

Betty, a member of the FHA and Y-Teens Club at the high school, was freshman homecoming attendant her first year at the high school.

Elected as the Queen's attendants were seniors Patsy Ann Cockerill and Nancy Aills.

Patsy, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cockerill; Nancy, also 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Aills.

The Queen and her attendants will take part in the annual Parent and Son Banquet March 21.

BETTY WILL be entered in the State FFA Queen contest at the Ohio State Fair in August.

In case Betty cannot take part in the August affair, one of the attendants will take her place.

In order to be eligible for FFA Queen, a candidate must live on a farm of 10 acres or more, be a senior in the high school and have at least a "C" grade average.

In discussion of the upcoming parent-son banquet, the boys decided on ham as the main dish for the banquet.

They thought this might help boost the falling price of hogs.

Alabama Negro

not on trial here. But Montgomery is on trial.

"The eyes of the world are focused here waiting to see Southern justice in action.

"It is an American's right to protest against undemocratic and inhuman practices, yet, because we are Negroes, the grand jury has indicted us."

He predicted that at least 10,000 Negroes will attend the meeting tonight "and pray to Almighty God to get into the hearts of Montgomery people so that justice will prevail at the arraignment trials Monday." He added:

"We are expecting these cases to be dismissed. But if they are not, we will take them to the U.S. Supreme Court."

Meanwhile, the 1-A draft status of Fred D. Gray, Negro attorney, has been upheld unanimously by the district appeals board of Alabama.

Gray, assistant pastor at the Holt Street Church of Christ here, had been exempt from service in the armed services under a 4-D or ministerial deferment class. He also has been the chief legal voice of the local Negro bus boycott. He had been classed 4-D since 1948. His local board reclassified him 1-A 10 days ago, making him eligible for the draft, at about the peak of the boycott fuss.

Americans used 575 million tubes of tooth paste in 1954, or about three to a person.

Report on Workshop Made to LWV Here

A report on the all-day workshop on the United Nations that was held earlier this month in Cincinnati was made by two of the four representatives from here when the League of Women Voters held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Morrow here.

Mrs. Paul Craig gave a comprehensive report on the workings of the United Nations as they were outlined at the workshop and Mrs. Morrow told of the accomplishments of United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, a branch of the United Nations dedicated to improving the way of life in backward countries of the World.

The league here also voted on a 4-point legislative program at the request of the state league.

Council Meeting

being studied and has proven practical where tried out, reports state.

Councilman Ben Norris brought up the matter of no left turns at the Court and Main and Court and Fayette Street intersections on Saturdays in an effort to relieve congestion and lessen traffic hazards.

This was referred to the Safety Service Committee. Chief Vaiden Long was added to the committee as a consultant.

Councilman Paul Van Voorhis, who presided over the meeting in the absence of President Ronald Cornwell, stated that he and Councilman C. L. Musser had been studying traffic in the up - town area and thought the one - way street plan might help solve the ever increasing traffic problem.

A SHORT TIME was then spent in discussing traffic problems and Norris suggested that a little longer time between traffic light changes might be a big aid to pedestrians crossing the streets.

Parking on only one side of Hinde Street between Court and Market and possible abolishment of all parking on West Court Street from Hinde to the bridge over Paint Creek, and a double parking hazard on South Main Street opposite the Murphy Store about 5 P. M. each week day, also were discussed.

Leo Cox, representing the DAV and again seeking permission for a street carnival on South Main Street between the railroads, was told that a definite answer to his request would be given at the next meeting. It was his fourth visit to council recently.

It was decided to consider a successor to Councilman Weade, who died Feb. 13, at a later meeting when other councilmen were present. No executive session was held.

Ag Bill Debate

mately $1 million a day in storage costs alone.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House committee commented he would personally approve legislation providing $1 billion a year in soil bank payments.

A Senate farm bill would provide $100 million more than this figure, with $750 million earmarked for planting reductions under the acreage reserve program and another $350 million for the conservation reserve of forest and rangeland.

The acreage reserve program, a key part of the soil bank, would reward farmers in cash or kind for voluntarily taking out of production land now used for growing basic crops that are in surplus.

Mississippi Showered By Constitution

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The capital of Mississippi now has 5,000 more copies of the U. S. Constitution, the gift of a Chicago Negro disc jockey who wanted to dramatize the school segregation situation.

The Chicagoan, 48-year-old Al Benson, delivered his gift yesterday by airplane. Although he is an amateur pilot, Benson at the last minute decided not to fly the plane himself. He remained in Chicago and hired two white men to shower Jackson with the booklets.

Benson said he wanted to remind Mississippi that the U. S. Supreme Court has "ruled against school segregation."

Some of the booklets reached the ground in readable condition. Others floated down page-by-page in the sunny skies over Jackson—exciting little public or official attention.

In Chicago, Benson had this to say about the scant attention his project received: "That's due to ignorance. That's the trouble, the Constitution has attracted too little attention in Mississippi. That's just what I've been saying."

Gov. J. P. Coleman remarked he had plenty of copies of the Mississippi Constitution if Benson wanted them. An d Brig. Gen. T. B. Birdsong, commissioner of public safety, said prior to the flight: "We could stop him, but don't think it would be worthwhile."

McCarthy Deplores Geneva Friendship

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur last night as "the contemporary George Washington" who never "would have extended the hand of friendship to the Soviet Union as was done last summer at Geneva."

McCarthy spoke before a capacity crowd of 3,000 jamming Carnegie Hall at a rally sponsored by For America, an organization formed for political action, saying:

"From Roosevelt, through Truman, to Eisenhower, we have taught the Asian people how to appease communism, how to retreat from communism, how to sell out to communism—how to surrender to communism."

Earl Eisenhower Sees Second Term

CHICAGO (AP)—Earl Eisenhower, brother of the President, says he believes the President wil lseek a second term.

The youngest of the Eisenhower brothers, who lives in suburban La Grange, said the President's decision will depend on whether he believes he is still needed in the nation's top job.

But, Earl said, "I know what I would do if I were Dwight. I'd retire to that farm in Gettysburg or switch to some other job."

witness is guilty of a violation of the criminal statute regardless of whether he is directed to answer" when it is a crime to refuse to answer.

"Immunity from prosecution," the majority decision said, "pertains solely to prosecution in the same jurisdiction, and where the immunity is sufficient within the state it affords the protection against self-incrimination guaranteed by the State Constitution."

If a witness objects to a question in such a way that the committee regards it as an attempt against self - incrimination. the court said a witness thereby invokes whatever protection against self-incrimination he may be entitled to receive.

Affirming the convictions were Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt and Judges John M. Matthias, Charles B. Zimmerman and James F. Bell. Dissenting were Judges William L. Hart, Kingsley A. Taft and James G. Stewart.

Vice-Presidency Of Growing Importance

During the last few years there has been a growing sentiment regarding political parties paying more attention to their candidates for vice-presidency.

Everyone recognizes that far more than mere political expediency should be considered by picking some fairly well known man from some state or region in the hope of some kind of a trade of votes can thus be assured at national conventions.

Fortunately there is now a bipartisan movement on in Congress and among highest government officials to elevate the office of vice-president to a position of greater importance and dignity which should have general public as well as congressional support.

It is becoming demonstrated repeatedly that a president, because of the pressure under which he lives and acts, if he is conscientiously doing the big job expected of him, may at any time give way to sudden death or a long seige of illness which places this all-important position he holds, in a precarious situation.

The increasing burden of the office, plus the fact that two occupants of the White House have died in comparatively recent years, have given this office of vice-president added importance and significance.

Richard Nixon has been the most active vice president in American history. President Eisenhower has delegated duties to him which ordinarily would have been performed by himself and Nixon seems to have performed well in the office he holds.

It is likely that henceforth vice presidents of whatever party will continue to share these burdens. Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright of New York has drafted a plan which is now before President Eisenhower and high government officials and members of Congress for discussion with leaders of both parties.

The Wainwright program would establish an official home for the vice president. He must now provide his own. It would provide him with an adequate office and staff. He now has four rooms at the back of the Senate Office Building and a very small staff.

Perhaps if this Congress were to emphasize the importance of the office, it would cease to be regarded as just a consolidation prize. In that event more men of presidential caliber might be expected to seek the job.

This Hunter Uses Howitzer

By Hal Boyle

DENVER (AP)—Ted Bakken, a lean, red-haired, 28-year-old mountaineer, is one of America's most unusual big game hunters.

He hunts avalanches. When he finds one that is ripe, he brings it down with artillery fire.

Ted (he uses a 75mm. howitzer) is the chief marksman in a spectacular snow-fighting technique developed by the Colorado Department of Highways.

Keeping roads through 21 high mountain passes free of snow is an arduous and sometimes hazardous task this time of year.

Avalanches, roaring unchecked from high peaks and burying key highways under hundreds of tons of snow, rocks and broken trees, have been more than a nuisance to motorists in the past. Between 1945 and 1952 they claimed six lives in Colorado.

Today highway engineers are less often taken by surprise. They create more than half the mountain pass avalanches themselves in a unique snow control program.

It is done with the precision of a military maneuver.

When snow builds up dangerously in an area, a section of the road is blocked off, and a high explosive shell is fired into the snow mass. Usually after the man-made avalanche cascades down the waiting snow removal machinery can clear a lane through in less than an hour.

"The snow is brought down at our convenience, not mother nature's," explained district engineer George Miles.

The avalanche areas, which are well charted, bear such names as "The Seven Sisters," "Slippery Jim," "Little Professor," "Five-Car," and "The Pink Lady."

I went with Miles to watch the avalanche control unit in action. Its job this day was to test dangerous snow areas in the historic Bethoud Pass, on both sides of the Continental Divide.

Pat Murray, a veteran road foreman known as "the man on the mountain," picked the targets. Other mountain men say Pat can practically smell when an avalanche is "ready to go."

He disclaims this himself, and says:

"You can't really know. Weight and wind are factors. So is the temperature. There are others, too. But when everything is right, any sudden vibration—a passing tractor, a rifle shot, even a honking horn—will start her down."

Young Bakken wheeled his howitzer, contributed by the National Guard, into position.

In the next hour he fired ten shells. They burst in red fire and black smoke in the high snow banks 300 to 400 yards away, and the sheer peaks tossed back the echoes like thunderclaps. But only one small slide resulted, and it failed to reach the road.

A small crowd of spectators that had assembled was visibly disappointed.

"Guess I didn't earn my pay today," said Ted, as he finished firing.

But it had been worthwhile.

"We know the snow there is stabilized until there's some kind of weather change," said Miles.

Actually Ted has a pretty good box score. He has fired about 500 shells in the last three years, brought down 40 avalanches that reached the highway, and about the same number of smaller avalanches that didn't.

The net result is that the highways are kept open, and motorists feel a lot safer.

Complex Situation In Alabama

By George Sokolsky

I don't need to write this piece. I have a good excuse. I cannot go down to Alabama to study the situation first hand. And even if I could how much can one know about a complex race problem unless he actually lives with it? Race is even more profound than religion in the spirits of men.

I lived for more than 12 years as a member of a dominant racial minority, generally known as a Yang Kuei Tze, a foreign devil among the Chinese. Were it a matter of preference, they would have got along without us. Certainly, they resented the biological mixture, when it occurred; customs, traditions, responses were different and with the best of intentions, one had to be careful not to give offense.

The point about race prejudice is that it is ubiquitous. That does not make it right or just, but a fact. And many facts are ugly and unwanted. And in many cases there are no realistic solutions. The ugly fact continues despite almost universal agreement that it is ugly. This much is certain that there is no evidence in the whole of human history that any race or even nation has been forced by any means to love another race or nation.

Education has done much in the United States to lessen racial prejudice, but not enough to eliminate the problem. For instance, a Jew in New York can be on the most intimate terms with certain men; they may be his close business associates and they may see each other every day and dine in each other's homes, but it is impossible for that Jew to become a member of the club to which, let us say, all of his intimate friends belong. They will advise him not to permit his name to be presented. There is always someone who will exercise the right to blackball on a racial issue. His own sense of superiority requires him to do it. He faces no particular problem; he expresses an inherited and inherent prejudice.

While in practical terms this is meaningless it represents the same form of racial antagonism which has caused all the trouble in Alabama where, I am told by those who should know, gradualism was making significant progress. Gradualism means that negroes and whites of good will sit down to find solutions for such problems as they can solve; they postpone other problems to subsequent meetings.

Of course, it does happen that some problems can never be solved at a meeting. One of them is intermarriage against which every group has rigid taboos. I was recently in conversation with a Catholic girl whose boy is Jewish and they want to get married. His mother objects to his choice. So they are having a tough time.

As all social relations have their end purpose in marriage, the question of intermarriage looms large in the development of any type of prejudice. There should be enough knowledge in the world that racial purity is a myth; that as we are only beginning to learn about racial origins and migrations, it is very difficult to trace ancestry back far enough on all sides to know exactly what it is and that the genes determine what we are and we know not where our particular genes originated. But knowing that is like learning calculus; you remember it long enough to pass an examination and then go along with your prejudices. The Turks are still concerned about their possible descent from the Hittites, which may be interesting, but what does it prove? Is my Welsh wife pure Celt or was there a Phoenician influence four thousand years ago? Who knows and what difference can it make?

These arguments are not sound because they are unavailing. The prejudices continue even among the literate, even among men of good will. The human race does not function rationally; it is emotional, excitable, with loves and hatreds that make no sense but exist.

The conservative recognizes that the changes that are most effective are those which by slow processes affect the reason. He fears the consequences of emotional responses to public questions; they usually produce the opposite of what was anticipated, and the opposite is most often ugly. Revolutions designed to produce equality usually produce a dictatorship; the cure is often worse than the disease.

Be Suitably Dressed For Winter Sports

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Winter sports are fun and healthful.

But you've got to keep bundled up if you want to remain comfortable and avoid chills and numbing frostbite. Dress sensibly and you will get more enjoyment out of skating, skiing and tobogganing.

You do not become cold because of the change in your body's temperature, but because of a change in the temperature of your skin.

Normal Temperature

When your skin becomes cold, involuntary messages are sent to your brain. There, a device, acting like a thermostat, automatically helps your body maintain its own normal temperature.

If you are in good health, this temperature may vary from 97 to 99 degrees Fahrenheit. This built-in thermostat, however, needs the help of warm clothing to do a good job in the winter.

I think you will find that several layers of light wool, such as wool shirt or dress and one or even two woolen sweaters will keep you much warmer than just one heavy garment.

Light Garments

Another good reason for wearing several light garments is that you can easily remove or add them according to the temperature or amount of exertion called for in your activities.

Over these woolens, you can wear a light windproof coat or other covering. This will greatly help to keep your body heat from escaping.

Your hands, feet and ears are the best targets for frostbite.

Earmuffs are essential for subfreezing weather. Woolen mitts offer the best protection for you hands. In extremely cold weather, water-repellent mittens worn over woolen mitts will keep your hands not only nice and warm but dry as well.

Light Wool

For your feet, I advise two pair of socks. The first should be light wool. Over them put on a pair of heavier wool socks.

And finally, a pair of comfortable boots. Avoid tight boots. They tend to increase the chance of frostbite. In fact, all winter clothing should be fairly loose.

Tight clothes restrict blood circulation and cold temperatures are apt to slow down circulation anyway.

Wheeling Steel OKs Joint Venture

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Wheeling Steel Corp. is making its first venture into iron ore concentration with other companies on the Marquette Range of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

President John L. Neudoerfer said Wheeling Steel is joining with other steel companies and Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. in a low-grade iron ore beneficiation project on the Marquette Range. Beneficiation involves concentration of ore to prepare it for smelting.

Wheeling Steel will own 10 per cent of the Marquette Iron Mining Co., a firm organized by Cleveland-Cliffs to own and operate the project. Marquette has leases on two large mines in the area.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stalin's heirs now denounce him like men anxious to get rid of a stench. Becoming so extreme about it so suddenly, they raise an immediate question about themselves.

These new Kremlin leaders, tumbling over one another to condemn Stalin at this late date, were his right-hand men either all or part of the 29 years he ran the show in Russia. He died in 1953.

If he was as bad as they now say he was, why did they wait till now to say so? Why did they not only let him get away with it but cooperate with him and glorify him in his lifetime?

They can't claim ignorance of what was happening. They were part of it. This makes them hypocrites who either agreed with him in his lifetime or lacked the guts to throw him out, and now put on this act because it serves their purpose.

At the Russian Communist party's 20th Congress last week Stalin was attacked by name or indirectly by party boss Khrushchev, Premier Bulganin, Deputy Premiers Malenkov, Suslov, Mikoyan and Kaganovich, and Foreign Minister Molotov.

Summed up, this in effect was the catalogue of sins they blamed on their old boss.

He betrayed the spirit of the Revolution with one-man rule; he twisted history in his writings; he set back the Revolution with his domestic and foreign policies; and some or all of his Old Bolshevik comrades, whom he had shot in the purges of the 1930s, were framed.

Why this switch by Stalin's heirs? They had to make it. They had to give communism a fresh and attractive look, which meant wiping out the Stalin look. He had left them and communism hanging on a hook.

By the time of Stalin's death communism, except for what the Red Chinese could do, was standing still. The West was surrounding Russia with allies, or trying to. And Stalin had made communism repulsive.

Communism the world over had become associated in people's minds with violence, aggression, murder, purges, liquidation of even the party faithful, subservience (to Russia), and meager rewards.

Stalin, in becoming the symbol of communism, had become the symbol of all the tyrants in history.

And for years he had had no new ideas. He had become incapable of taking advantage of new and favorable situations by changing his tactics. He wasn't letting communism expand. He was freezing it solid behind the Iron Curtain.

The new leaders must, if they are to win against the West, change this world view of Russian communism, scoop up in any way they can the nations not attached to the West and even soften and break the Western partnerships.

They couldn't do it by force without catatrophe for themselves. But, as they now make plain in throwing Stalin's bulldozer out the window, there are other ways to try.

They talk now of economic help to their neighbors, of letting communism develop along different lines in other countries, of Russia as a friend and not a menace, of taking over where they can be peaceful and legal means. They reserve the idea of forceful overthrow for only the biggest and most anti-Communist countries.

DiSalle Urging Lausche Take Time In Strike

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, says he feels Gov. Frank J. Lausche needs "all the time possible" to give the Westinghouse strike situation "the thought it deserves."

Striking union officials earlier this month had asked the governor for help in ending the strike.

A Westinghouse striker asked DiSalle if he didn't think Lausche's 10-day silence after the meeting wasn't "too long." DiSalle, replying here Wednesday on a (WMAN) radio broadcast, said:

"You fellows have had 129 days to try to settle the problem, without success, and the governor has had only 10 days...I feel Gov. Lausche needs all the time possible to give this problem the thought it deserves."

It is done with the precision of a military maneuver.

When snow builds up dangerously in an area, a section of the road is blocked off, and a high explosive shell is fired into the snow mass. Usually after the man-made avalanche cascades down the waiting snow removal machinery can clear a lane through in less than an hour.

"The snow is brought down at our convenience, not mother nature's," explained district engineer George Miles.

The avalanche areas, which are well charted, bear such names as "The Seven Sisters," "Slippery Jim," "Little Professor," "Five-Car," and "The Pink Lady."

I went with Miles to watch the avalanche control unit in action. Its job this day was to test dangerous snow areas in the historic Bethoud Pass, on both sides of the Continental Divide.

Pat Murray, a veteran road foreman known as "the man on the mountain," picked the targets. Other mountain men say Pat can practically smell when an avalanche is "ready to go."

He disclaims this himself, and says:

"You can't really know. Weight and wind are factors. So is the temperature. There are others, too. But when everything is right, any sudden vibration—a passing tractor, a rifle shot, even a honking horn—will start her down."

Young Bakken wheeled his howitzer, contributed by the National Guard, into position.

In the next hour he fired ten shells. They burst in red fire and black smoke in the high snow banks 300 to 400 yards away, and the sheer peaks tossed back the echoes like thunderclaps. But only one small slide resulted, and it failed to reach the road.

A small crowd of spectators that had assembled was visibly disappointed.

"Guess I didn't earn my pay today," said Ted, as he finished firing.

But it had been worthwhile.

"We know the snow there is stabilized until there's some kind of weather change," said Miles.

Actually Ted has a pretty good box score. He has fired about 500 shells in the last three years, brought down 40 avalanches that reached the highway, and about the same number of smaller avalanches that didn't.

The net result is that the highways are kept open, and motorists feel a lot safer..

Complex Situation In Alabama

By George Sokolsky

I don't need to write this piece. I have a good excuse. I cannot go down to Alabama to study the situation first hand. And even if I could how much can one know about a complex race problem unless he actually lives with it? Race is even more profound than religion in the spirits of men.

I lived for more than 13 years as a member of a dominant racial minority, generally known as a Yang Kuei Tze, a foreign devil among the Chinese. Were it a matter of preference, they would have got along without us. Certainly, they resented the biological mixture, when it occurred; customs, traditions, responses were different and with the best of intentions, one had to be careful not to give offense.

The point about race prejudice is that it is ubiquitous. That does not make it right or just, but a fact. And many facts are ugly and unwanted. And in many cases there are no realistic solutions. The ugly fact continues despite almost universal agreement that it is ugly. This much is certain that there is no evidence in the whole of human history that any race or even nation has been forced by any means to love another race or nation.

Education has done much in the United States to lessen racial prejudice, but not enough to eliminate the problem. For instance, a Jew in New York can be on the most intimate terms with certain men; they may be his close business associates and they may see each other every day and dine in each other's homes, but it is impossible for that Jew to become a member of the club to which, let us say, all of his intimate friends belong. They will advise him not to permit his name to be presented. There is always someone who will exercise the right to blackball on a racial issue. His own sense of superiority requires him to do it. He faces no particular problem; he expresses an inherited and inherent prejudice.

While in practical terms this is meaningless it represents the same form of racial antagonism which has caused all the trouble in Alabama where, I am told by those who should know, gradualism was making significant progress. Gradualism means that negroes and whites of good will sit down to find solutions for such problems as they can solve; they postpone other problems to subsequent meetings.

Of course, it does happen that some problems can never be solved at a meeting. One of them is intermarriage against which every group has rigid taboos. I was recently in conversation with a Catholic girl whose boy is Jewish and they want to get married. His mother objects to his choice. So they are having a tough time.

As all social relations have their end purpose in marriage, the question of intermarriage looms large in the development of any type of prejudice. There should be enough knowledge in the world that racial purity is a myth; that as we are only beginning to learn about racial origins and migrations, it is very difficult to trace ancestry back far enough on all sides to know exactly what it is and that the genes determine what we are and we know not where our particular genes originated. But knowing that is like learning calculus; you remember it long enough to pass an examination and then go along with your prejudices. The Turks are still concerned about their possible descent from the Hittites, which may be interesting, but what does it prove? Is my Welsh wife pure Celt or was there a Phoenician influence four thousand years ago? Who knows and what difference can it make?

These arguments are not sound because they are unavailing. The prejudices continue even among the literate, even among men of good will. The human race does not function rationally; it is emotional, excitable, with loves and hatreds that make no sense but exist.

The conservative recognizes that the changes that are most effective are those which by slow processes affect the reason. He fears the consequences of emotional responses to public questions; they usually produce the opposite of what was anticipated, and the opposite is most often ugly. Revolutions designed to produce equality usually produce a dictatorship; the cure is often worse than the disease.

Be Suitably Dressed For Winter Sports

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Winter sports are fun and healthful.

But you've got to keep bundled up if you want to remain comfortable and avoid chills and numbing frostbite. Dress sensibly and you will get more enjoyment out of skating, skiing and tobogganing.

You do not become cold because of the change in your body's temperature, but because of a change in the temperature of your skin.

Normal Temperature

When your skin becomes cold, involuntary messages are sent to your brain. There, a device, acting like a thermostat, automatically helps your body maintain its own normal temperature.

If you are in good health, this temperature may vary from 97 to 99 degrees Fahrenheit. This built-in thermostat, however, needs the help of warm clothing to do a good job in the winter.

I think you will find that several layers of light wool, such as wool shirt or dress and one or even two woolen sweaters will keep you much warmer than just one heavy garment.

Light Garments

Another good reason for wearing several light garments is that you can easily remove or add them according to the temperature or amount of exertion called for in your activities.

Over these woolens, you can wear a light windproof coat or other covering. This will greatly help to keep your body heat from escaping.

Your hands, feet and ears are the best targets for frostbite.

Earmuffs are essential for subfreezing weather. Woolen mitts offer the best protection for you hands. In extremely cold weather, water-repellent mittens worn over woolen mitts will keep your hands not only nice and warm but dry as well.

Light Wool

For your feet, I advise two pair of socks. The first should be light wool. Over them put on a pair of heavier wool socks.

And finally, a pair of comfortable boots. Avoid tight boots. They tend to increase the chance of frostbite. In fact, all winter clothing should be fairly loose.

Tight clothes restrict blood circulation and cold temperatures are apt to slow down circulation anyway.

Wheeling Steel OKs Joint Venture

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Wheeling Steel Corp. is making its first venture into iron ore concentration with other companies on the Marquette Range of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

President John L. Neudoerfer said Wheeling Steel is joining with other steel companies and Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. in a low-grade iron ore beneficiation project on the Marquette Range. Beneficiation involves concentration of ore to prepare it for smelting.

Wheeling Steel will own 10 per cent of the Marquette Iron Mining Co., a firm organized by Cleveland-Cliffs to own and operate the project. Marquette has leases on two large mines in the area.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stalin's heirs now denounce him like men anxious to get rid of a stench. Becoming so extreme about it so suddenly, they raise an immediate question about themselves.

These new Kremlin leaders, tumbling over one another to condemn Stalin at this late date, were his right-hand men either all or part of the 29 years he ran the show in Russia. He died in 1953.

If he was as bad as they now say he was, why did they wait till now to say so? Why did they not only let him get away with it but cooperate with him and glorify him in his lifetime?

They can't claim ignorance of what was happening. They were part of it. This makes them hypocrites who either agreed with him in his lifetime or lacked the guts to throw him out, and now put on this act because it serves their purpose.

At the Russian Communist party's 20th Congress last week Stalin was attacked by name or indirectly by party boss Khrushchev, Premier Bulganin, Deputy Premiers Malenkov, Suslov, Mikoyan and Kaganovich, and Foreign Minister Molotov.

Summed up, this in effect was the catalogue of sins they blamed on their old boss.

He betrayed the spirit of the Revolution with one-man rule; he twisted history in his writings; he set back the Revolution with his domestic and foreign policies; and some or all of his Old Bolshevik comrades, whom he had shot in the purges of the 1930s, were framed.

Why this switch by Stalin's heirs? They had to make it. They had to give communism a fresh and attractive look, which meant wiping out the Stalin look. He had left them and communism hanging on a hook.

By the time of Stalin's death communism, except for what the Red Chinese could do, was standing still. The West was surrounding Russia with allies, or trying to. And Stalin had made communism repulsive.

Communism the world over had become associated in people's minds with violence, aggression, murder, purges, liquidation of even the party faithful, subversion, subservience (to Russia), and meager rewards.

Stalin, in becoming the symbol of communism, had become the symbol of all the tyrants in history.

And for years he had had no new ideas. He had become incapable of taking advantage of new and favorable situations by changing his tactics. He wasn't letting communism expand. He was freezing it solid behind the Iron Curtain.

The new leaders must, if they are to win against the West, change this world view of Russian communism, scoop up in any way they can the nations not attached to the West and even soften and break the Western partnershpis.

They couldn't do it by force without catatrophe for themselves. But, as they now make plain in throwing Stalin's bulldozer out the window, there are other ways to try.

They talk now of economic help to their neighbors, of letting communism develop along different lines in other countries, of Russia as a friend and not a menace, of taking over where they can be peaceful and legal means. They reserve the idea of forceful overthrow for only the biggest and most anti-Communist countries.

DiSalle Urging Lausche Take Time In Strike

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, says he feels Gov. Frank J. Lausche needs "all the time possible" to give the Westinghouse strike situation "the thought it deserves."

Striking union officials earlier this month had asked the governor for help in ending the strike.

A Westinghouse striker asked DiSalle if he didn't think Lausche's 10-day silence after the meeting wasn't "too long." DiSalle, replying here Wednesday on a (WMAN) radio broadcast, said:

"You fellows have had 129 days to try to settle the problem, without success, and the governor has had only 10 days...I feel Gov. Lausche needs all the time possible to give this problem the thought it deserves."

Garden Club Holds Meeting At Wayne Hall

The regular meeting of the Marilee Garden Club was held in Wayne Hall, Good Hope, with nine members present and Mrs. A. B. Clifton was hostess.

The president, Mrs. Herbert Rothrock, opened the meeting with the reading of the poem "Tramps" The secretary, Mrs. O. E. Harper, gave a most gratifying report which was accepted as read.

Mrs. Rothrock announced that the County Flower Show would be held at Wayne Hall, May 4. with the Marilee and Twin Oaks Clubs as hostesses for the luncheon, and Mrs. Jackson of Ewing, is to be the guest speaker.

The Flower Show sponsored by the Marilee and Twin Oaks Clubs was also discussed at length and a tentative date was set for April 20, wihich will be arranged by a committee from both clubs at a meeting in the near future.

Mrs. Glenn Smith announced a board meeting of the club at an early date.

Roll call was responded to by members naming a useful weed and a lengthy discussion was held on the meaning of a weed, which brought out the facts that most weeds that are useful are classed as herbs and in olden times weeds served their purpose as medicinal aids.

Mrs. O. E. Harper was in charge of the program and gave a most interesting paper prepared by Mrs. Hugh Sollars, who was unable to atiend the meeting.

The topic was "Weeds For Food, Medicine, and the Legend of Some Weeds Used for Flowers".

Mrs. Harper first spoke of horse mint, wild bergamont, whose spicy fragrance fills the air in July and August, and is frequently used in landscaping, and was used by the Indians, as an infusion to induce perspiration in colds, also oil which was extracted and used to perfume hair oil.

"Goose Grass" was the next weed spoken of, which is so often confused with Crab grass and Crowfoot grass, which can be distinguished by the large Crowfoot seed heads, used in olden times to make a poor grade of flour, and derived its name from the Greek town where Ceres, the Goddess of grain, was worshipped.

She also spoke of snow-on-the-mountain which is a very beautiful weed, and is considered troublesome in the western states but is a good soil builder when turned under.

The "Jimpson weed" also played a big part in the days of witches, and there was a time in England when anyone allowing it to grow was in danger, since this weed produces a drug which is used in the dilation of the eyes.

The horse weed is a giant rag weed, and in rich bottom land it will grow ten feet tall.

The ox-eye daisy is a beautiful but bad weed and is called the field daisy and in the early days the entire plant was made into tea to be used as a remedy in cases of asthma and whooping cough, also as a lotion for cuts and bruises.

Poison ivy was mentioned as strictly American and is recognized by its three leaves.

The "pig weed", as Mrs. Harper explained, gets its name because it affords a favorite food for hogs, and is a first cousin to coxscomb, princess feather and Joseph's coat, all beautiful weeds and easily managed.

Chicory which is found in all parts of the United States and Canada, is used as the main legume in Europe and its roots are used as a substitute for coffee.

Catnip, the last in the weed categories mentioned, is a very common weed, easily recognized by its square stems, is used for medicinal purposes and many home remedies are made from it.

At the close of this paper, informal visiting was enjoyed.

DAR Entertains at Annual George Washington Tea Honoring New Members

Following an established custom, Washington Court House Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, entertained with a George Washington Tea and Reception for new members. More than one-hundred Daughters, C.A.R., and guests met in Fellowship Hall, at Grace Methodist Church at two-thirty Wednesday afternoon.

The regent, Mrs. John D. Forsythe, presided and Mrs. Harry M. Rankin, first vice regent, read Washington's Prayer for the nation after which all joined in giving the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the singing of the first and last stanzas of the "Star Spangled Banner" as led by Mrs. W. A. Creamer and accompanied by Mrs. Walter Craig playing the piano.

A delightful and diverse program was presented during the afternoon.

Miss Joan Willis was introduced first and she read her prize-winning American Legion patriotic essay "What I Owe My Country."

Mrs. Forsythe presented the Triple Trio, from the Washington C. H. High School, under the direction of Mr. Robert Newman and this group of young ladies sang two lovely and unusual selections, "Snow Maker" with words from an American Indian Legend and "Prayer".

Miss Georgia Clifton, granddaughter of one of the members, was next introduced and sang two charming solos, the spiritual "Little David Play on Your Harp" and "Mighty Lak' A Rose", accompanied by Miss Janice Gillen.

The next number was an expertly played piano solo by Miss Diane Everhart "Lotus Land" by Cyril Scott, after which Mrs. Ray French, chairman of the Good Citizens Committee, spoke briefly of the Good Citizenship contest.

This contest is sponsored by D.A.R. and is open to senior girls in the high schools of all forty-eight states.

Carol June Wilson and Nancy Jean Merritt represented Washington C. H. High School which entered the contest, Zana Cowdery and Marilyn Heistand entered at Bloomingburg and Carolyn McCoy and Connie Garrison from Wayne High School, Good Hope. Miss Heistand received the highest score and was presented with a good citizenship pin—and the other contestants were given scarlet carnations by the regent, Mrs. Forsythe.

The crowning event of the afternoon, was the program put on by the children of the American Revolution under the direction of their senior president, Mrs. Richard Rankin, and it took the form of a typical C.A.R. meeting.

Jerry Powell advanced the colors as Ronnie Coffman played a march, Johnny Core called the roll, Sarah Terhune presided and the entire group sang their special song.

Little Miss Nellie Maude Case played a piano solo "Guitar Serenade"—and yearbooks with bright red covers which had been painstakingly made by Mrs. Jane Coffman were given out at this time, after which the colors were retired.

This C.A.R. group is very new having received their charter only a short time ago.

Mrs. Forsythe, officially welcomed, aided by Mrs. Harry Rankin, the Chapter's new members: Mrs. Roy Mossbarger, Mrs Robert Woodmansee, Mrs. Leo Hartman and Mrs. Gene Sagar. Flowers and the D.A.R. Handbook were given to each new member.

Special guests introduced were: Mrs. Willard Armbrust, Mrs. Cecil Cutlip, Mrs. John Cannon, Mrs. Lewis Wolfe, Mrs. W. H. Theobald, Mrs. Alyce Marsh, Mrs. Glenn Heistand and Mrs. R. G. Stoops.

A prolonged social hour followed during which the hostesses invited the daughters and guests to the attractively appointed table where tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Forsythe and Mrs. Frank Michael from a silver service at either end of the table and a patriotic color scheme was carried out in the centerpiece of red carnations, blue iris and white snapdragons, as well as in the ribbon sandwiches, cakes and mints.

Mrs. William Lovell was the hostess chairman who so ably managed the event and she was assisted by: Mrs. Ray French, Mrs. Robert Link, Mrs. Charles Gallagher, Miss Kathleen Davis, Mrs. Thomas Hancock, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mrs. Ervin Miller, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, Miss Emma Jackson, Mrs. Hugh Perrill, Mrs. John Leland, Mrs. Loring Duff, Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Ernest Leeka, Mrs. Gilbert Adams, Mrs. Thomas H. Parrett, Miss Bertha Townsley.

Mrs. Grim conducted a brief business during which discussions were held on plans for important coming events.

Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, daughter of Mrs. Grim, delighted the guests with the showing of colored movies of the Rose Bowl game, which she attended and narrated the pictures most interestingly.

Contests provided by the hostess as additional entertainment were won by Mrs. D. B. Nelson and Mrs. Earl Scott.

Later a dainty salad course was served from an attractive table with crystal appointments, centered with an arrangement of red carnations and white snapdragons flanked with white tapers and Mrs. Jean Nisley presided at the silver service.

Mrs. Grim was assisted in the hospitalities by her daughter, Mrs. Woodyard, her granddaughter Miss Patsy Woodyard, Mrs. William Shepard and Mrs. John E. Rhoads.

Women Fight Congress To Save Historic House from Wreckers

The Alva Belmont House

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(Central Press Association)

WASHINGTON — A band of determined women is threatening to make a last-ditch stand on Capitol Hill in an effort to block Congress from razing the historic Alva Belmont house.

The building is reputedly the oldest house in Washington. According to historical accounts, the British met their only resistance here when they seized the Capital in 1814. Here, also, the Louisiana Purchase papers were said to have been signed.

Congress wants to tear down the structure to enlarge the grounds surrounding the new Senate office building which is now under construction. A bill is now pending in Congress to authorize the government to condemn the property.

However, the occupants have vowed to keep the building intact and they have a long history of battles with Congress behind them. The historic house is the headquarters of the National Woman's party, which carries on the fight for equal rights begun by Susan B. Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

The descendants of women who picketed the White House during the heydey of the suffragist movement don't quail from thoughts of another fight now.

They are well aware of the fact that they once forced Congress to give women the right to vote and they are determined now to prevent the Senate, which is primarily interested, from tearing down their building.

OF COURSE the women haven't always been successful. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, after whom the structure is named, once donated a site for the women's group, but Congress took it over for the Supreme Court building.

The dramatic incident involving the British occurred after the invading forces had defeated a hastily-assembled band of Americans at Bladensburg, Md., on the approaches to the Capital.

The British then swept into Washington without resistance until they reached the Belmont house, just a stone's throw from the Capitol. Then a band of entrenched patriots fired on the British from the upper stories, killing and wounding several.

One shot killed the horse of General Ross, the British commander, throwing him to the ground. This indignity so enraged him that he immediately ordered the building burned. Then he went on to burn the Capitol and the White House.

Several years later the house was rebuilt and part of the original dwelling, including the kitchen and coach house, still stands.

THE ROOMS are furnished in colonial style. The floors are of hand-hewn timber. Tall-paneled doors are fitted with antique silver hinges and locks. There are brick fireplaces, imposing mantels, and beautiful mirrors.

One room contains a desk used by Andrew Jackson and another a desk of Susan B. Anthony. There are also busts of Miss Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton who founded the women's movement.

On a wall in this historic home, built on part of the original grant given Lord Baltimore by the then king of England, is a key to the old District of Columbia jail. It is a symbol of the hetic days of 1917, when a large number of suffragists was imprisoned there.

There is also an oversize bed, constructed for Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state under President Grover Cleveland and former ambassador to Great Britain. It seems that this former occupant of Alva Belmont house was a very tall man.

Poet's Corner

ROMANCE

The first time we met,
It was love at first sight;
It seems it was mutual . . .
To my delight;
Her bright eyes intrigued me. . .
Her smile did the rest;
A bit unconventional,
I must confess.

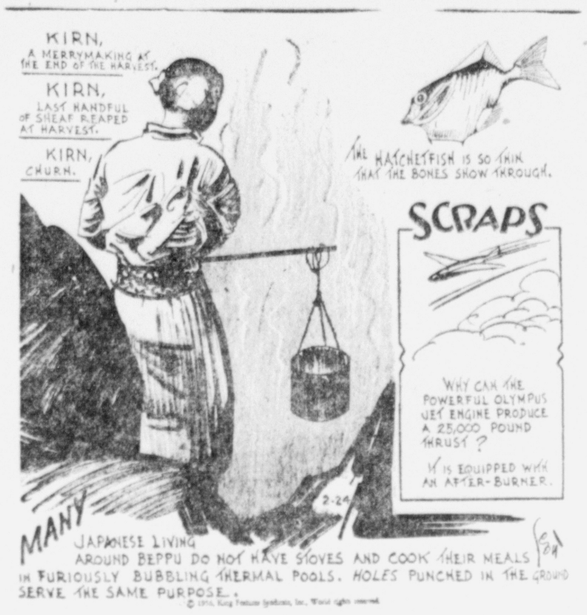

I cannot call her up
Or ask for a date,
For I am aware
That I met her too late.
We meet now and then
But we're never alone,
For she has at all times
An alert chaperon.

At times she defies
All observient eyes
And comes to my arms
As a cherubic prize;
Why I haven't proposed,
You can readily see,
When I tell you her age . .
She is just turning three.

Warning Against Fake Tax Collectors

Russell A. Welch, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for the Cincinnati District, again cautioned taxpayers to check the credentials of individuals representing themselves to be tax collection officers.

"We continue to receive reports from our district indicating people are being swindled out of money by phoney tax collectors. These bogus agents appear to be concentrating on small businessmen like small grocers, shoe repair and beauty shop owners", Welch said.

Their method of operation is quite simple. The bogus collector appears with a brief case full of tax forms and asks to see a copy of the businessman's tax return for last year. After looking it over he informs the taxpayer he owes anywhere from $15 to $35 additional tax. "He always asks for cash and has refused checks when offered. Bonafide collection officers prefer you pay your taxes by check or money order", Welch added.

If you are approached by anyone representing himself to be a tax collector not showing proper credentials or insisting you pay taxes by cash, try to delay him and call the nearest Internal Revenue Service or Federal Bureau of Investigation Office at once.

Foul Weather Cuts Cleveland Air Trade

CLEVELAND (AP)—The amount of poor flying weather in Cleveland this year was four times greater than the January-February average for the last three years.

The low visibility, fog, mist and snow were reflected in a decrease in air traffic. Last month 14,105 airplanes and 190,237 passengers were logged in. This compares with 15,455 airplanes and 199,916 passengers a year ago.

THE ROOMS are furnished in colonial style. The floors are of hand-hewn timber. Tall-paneled doors are fitted with antique silver hinges and locks. There are brick fireplaces, imposing mantels, and beautiful mirrors.

One room contains a desk used by Andrew Jackson and another a desk of Susan B. Anthony. There are also busts of Miss Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton who founded the women's movement.

On a wall in this historic home, built on part of the original grant given Lord Baltimore by the then king of England, is a key to the old District of Columbia jail. It is a symbol of the hetic days of 1917, when a large number of suffragists was imprisoned there.

There is also an oversize bed, constructed for Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state under President Grover Cleveland and former ambassador to Great Britain. It seems that this former occupant of Alva Belmont house was a very tall man.

Poet's Corner

ROMANCE

The first time we met,
It was love at first sight;
It seems it was mutual
To my delight;
Her bright eyes intrigued me. . .
Her smile did the rest;
A bit unconventional,
I must confess.

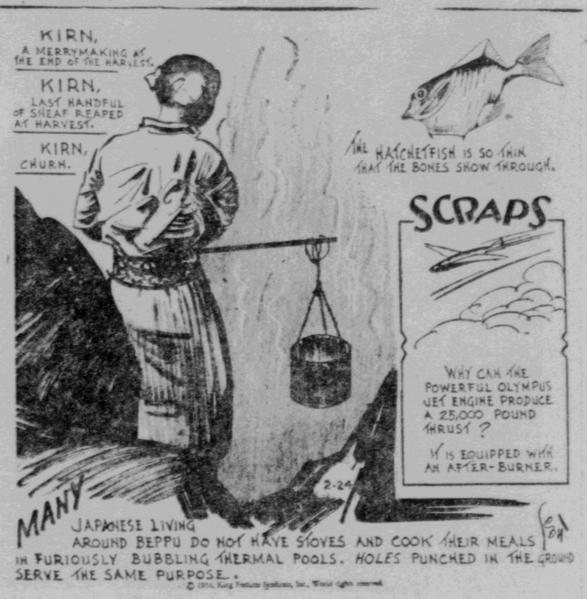

I cannot call her up
Or ask for a date,
For I am aware
That I met her too late.
We meet now and then
But we're never alone,
For she has at all times
An alert chaperon.

At times she defies
All observient eyes
And comes to my arms
As a cherubic prize;
Why I haven't proposed,
You can readily see,
When I tell you her age . .
She is just turning three.

Warning Against Fake Tax Collectors

Russell A. Welch, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for the Cincinnati District, again cautioned taxpayers to check the credentials of individuals representing themselves to be tax collection officers.

"We continue to receive reports from our district indicating people are being swindled out of money by phoney tax collectors. These bogus agents appear to be concentrating on small businessmen like small grocers, shoe repair and beauty shop owners", Welch said.

Their method of operation is quite simple. The bogus collector appears with a brief case full of tax forms and asks to see a copy of the businessman's tax return for last year. After looking it over he informs the taxpayer he owes anywhere from $15 to $35 additional tax. "He always asks for cash and has refused checks when offered. Bonafide collection officers prefer you pay your taxes by check or money order", Welch added.

If you are approached by anyone representing himself to be a tax collector not showing proper credentials or insisting you pay taxes by cash, try to delay him and call the nearest Internal Revenue Service or Federal Bureau of Investigation Office at once.

Foul Weather Cuts Cleveland Air Trade

CLEVELAND (AP)—The amount of poor flying weather in Cleveland this year was four times greater than the January-February average for the last three years.

The low visibility, fog, mist and snow were reflected in a decrease in air traffic. Last month 14,105 airplanes and 190,237 passengers were logged in. This compares with 15,455 airplanes and 199,916 passengers a year ago.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We have a son, 16 a sophomore in high school, and he wants to quit school. He failed the first year, and had to spend two years in the freshman grade. He doesn't like the school, because he feels the teachers and principal pick on him.

They do such things as make him buy a shoestring if he forgets to wear a belt to school. And last week someone stole his gym suit, and his teacher asked if he'd rather "take the paddle or go to the principal." He went to the principal, who gave him so many nights of detention for punishment. But another boy came without his gym suit and the teacher just looked at him, Roy says.

Recently Roy chums with a boy, 16, new in our neighborhood, who has quit school; and now Roy is more determined than ever. The boy must be coaxing him to quit. Roy can do his school work but won't, because he thinks if he fails this year, he will have a good excuse to quit. But we've warned him he'll have to stay in school until he graduates.

Mom Distrusts Boy

Roy wants us to send him up to my aunt's farm and let him finish school there, while helping on the farm to pay his board. But I am afraid he won't behave himself and won't go to school either. He says he is going to join the Navy next summer when he is 17. But I am afraid he won't if he quits school now.

I know we've failed in bringing up our son, and I am heartbroken. Neither his dad nor I had any high schooling and things have been so hard for us at times. I always dreamed of Roy's growing up and making something of himself—and now this.

C. A.

DEAR C. A.: Here is your letter cut in half. You say you have three daughters, but Roy is your only son, and a good boy, you add. You've tried to do everything for him, but now he won't listen to you. You say he'll be sorry eventually for not getting an education, and you aren't thinking of him only, but of his wife and the children he'll some day have. They will suffer because of his mistakes, etc.

In short, you are beside yourself with worry about Roy. You are a real Calamity Jane where he is concerned. And I am sure you don't recognize all that is involved in your fear-thinking. Back of your aggressive anxiety to run his life and keep him safe, is a selfish clutching "mom" type reluctance to let him grow up and become a man—a person in his own right.

Your dismally mixed-up attitude towards your only son is a considerable part of his problem, I feel. It is an awful drag on his social development; it fosters maladjustment and restiveness. It restricts him to an infantile level of response to environment, at an age when he should be standing on his own feet, more and more. It cripples self-confidence and undermines his will and capacity to think and plan, and concentrate and persevere, purposefully.

Boy Merits Support

However there is a brighter side to the picture. Despite the handicaps imposed by your Mom-attitude, Roy is showing commendable "git-up-and-git" in wanting to go to his aunt's, to finish school there, while helping on the farm to pay for his board. A trial of the sort, cordially encouraged by his family, can't hurt. And it is one possible intelligent solution of the impasse at your local school, where he isn't getting a decent break.

Also, if he wants to join the Navy next summer, I second the motion, all things considered. Provisions may be made for him to continue his schooling—along lines of study he's fitted for—while he is in the service.

You've said in your letter: "I don't think there would be so much juvenile delinquency if adolescents were compelled by law to stay in school until they're 18." I think this is using school as a custodial catch-all. What adolescents need is a sense of belonging to a great thriving enterprise, where their contribution is a necessary part of what goes on. Your son's ideas, of farm life and Navy life for him, may be providential leads out of dangers that shadow him now.

French Perfume Blossoms Frozen

GRASSE, France (AP)—The delicate scent of orange blossoms will be more rare and costly this year because of the worst cold wave in memory to sweep France's perfume region.

More than two weeks of freezing temperatures here on the Riviera have nearly wiped out the Seville bitter orange trees whose blossoms produce extract used in costly perfumes and cologne.

Actor Recalls His Training In Dramatics As Bartender

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some actors boast of their training at drama academies. Robert Strauss is proud to say he got his at the bar and grill school of dramatics.

Off and on for 13 years, Bob was a bartender. And he says there's no better way to study acting.

"The best way for an actor to improve in his craft is to study human behavior," he reasons. "And you certainly see people as they really are from behind a bar."

Bob has proven his own talent in films like "Stalag 17" and "Seven Year Itch." He's now playing another GI in "Fragile Fox," and he paused between scenes to reflect on his life as a bartender.

"It's an interesting life," he remarked. "You see people at their best and at their worst. I remember one guy who was very pleasant up to six drinks. But let him take that seventh one and he became a wild man.

"Once he thought I was a member of the Mafia out to get him. He came at me with a knife. Fortunately, there was another character in the bar who slugged him in the mouth, so hard that the guy's teeth clamped on the other guy's fist. Both of them were injured."

But most of his customers were less violent, and Bob underwent the bartender's legendary chore of listening to their problems. "It got to be pretty bad in a neighborhood bar, where you'd get two or three of the same customers every day and that's all," he said. "There isn't much to do but stare at them."

Strauss got started on the tavern turn of his career in 1936, when he got a job in a Jersey joint as a singing waiter. Most of the time when he was tending bar he would also entertain the tipplers, employing such props as fright wigs, masks and an ancient fowling piece with which he coaxed the stingier customers to buy rounds for the other guests.

Strauss tended bar from New York to Hollywood and finally gave up pouring to become a full-time actor in 1949. Oddly enough, he has played a bartender only once.

"It was a play called 'Springboard to Nowhere,' and it was aptly titled," he recalled. "It was a real fiasco, but the play had a revolving bar that was really something. I convinced the producer that I should serve real liquor to the actors. I'll never forget pouring a shot for Julie Hayden, a teetotaler; she took a big gulp and nearly choked."

BUCYRUS (AP) — Roy Smith, 5, died Monday of exposure and shock, a coroner ruled, after either slipping or falling into a sewer pipe near his home here.

Father Burned; Baby Son Dies

CINCINNATI (AP)—A young Cincinnati father, Eugene Johnson 28, was seriously burned Tuesday in a fire that claimed the life of his 11-month-old son.

General Hospital officials today reported Johnson in "critical" condition.

His son, Michael, died at the hospital less than three hours after firemen rescued him from the blazing apartment.

Fire officials said Johnson apparently fell asleep while smoking and also holding the youngster on a bed in the apartment.

Investigators said the apartment was Johnson's sisters, and that Johnson lived there temporarily while separated from his wife.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some actors boast of their training at drama academies. Robert Strauss is proud to say he got his at the bar and grill school of dramatics.

Off and on for 13 years, Bob was a bartender. And he says there's no better way to study acting.

"The best way for an actor to improve in his craft is to study human behavior," he reasons. "And you certainly see people as they really are from behind a bar."

Bob has proven his own talent in films like "Stalag 17" and "Seven Year Itch." He's now playing another GI in "Fragile Fox," and he paused between scenes to reflect on his life as a bartender.

"It's an interesting life," he remarked. "You see people at their best and at their worst. I remember one guy who was very pleasant up to six drinks. But let him take that seventh one and he became a wild man.

"Once he thought I was a member of the Mafia out to get him. He came at me with a knife. Fortunately, there was another character in the bar who slugged him in the mouth, so hard that the guy's teeth clamped on the other guy's fist. Both of them were injured."

But most of his customers were less violent, and Bob underwent the bartender's legendary chore of listening to their problems. "It got to be pretty bad in a neighborhood bar, where you'd get two or three of the same customers every day and that's all," he said. "There isn't much to do but stare at them."

Strauss got started on the tavern turn of his career in 1936, when he got a job in a Jersey joint as a singing waiter. Most of the time when he was tending bar he would also entertain the tipplers, employing such props as fright wigs, masks and an ancient fowling piece with which he coaxed the stingier customers to buy rounds for the other guests.

Strauss tended bar from New York to Hollywood and finally gave up pouring to become a full-time actor in 1949. Oddly enough, he has played a bartender only once.

"It was a play called 'Springboard to Nowhere,' and it was aptly titled," he recalled. "It was a real fiasco, but the play had a revolving bar that was really something. I convinced the producer that I should serve real liquor to the actors. I'll never forget pouring a shot for Julie Hayden, a teetotaler; she took a big gulp and nearly choked."

CINCINNATI (AP)—A young Cincinnati father, Eugene Johnson 28, was seriously burned Tuesday in a fire that claimed the life of his 11-month-old son.

General Hospital officials today reported Johnson in "critical" condition.

His son, Michael, died at the hospital less than three hours after firemen rescued him from the blazing apartment.

Fire officials said Johnson apparently fell asleep while smoking and also holding the youngster on a bed in the apartment.

Investigators said the apartment was Johnson's sisters, and that Johnson lived there temporarily while separated from his wife.

Middle East Trouble Adds New Concern To American Interests

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Shipment of American tanks to the troubled Middle East adds one more worry for the executives of America's far-flung oil empires.

Some of the richest foreign holdings by American capital lie in the oil bearing region. Political unrest won't make their management problems any light.

Compliations include the American government's anxiety lest the huge oil reserves fall into Soviet hands; the pressure on the oil companies by the Arabian rulers to pump lots of oil now so there will be royalties to spend; and the political pressure here at home pushed by domestic crude oil producers to halt the increasing flow of foreign oil to these shores and to go slow on Middle East expansion.

Oil imports increased 18 per cent last year, while domestic output was going up 7 per cent. Total consumption here went up 8 per cent for the biggest gain in five years.

This helped the oil industry to add even more impressively to its profits. The first 20 oil companies to report their net income after taxes in 1955 show a total of $1,317,878,313, a 16 per cent increase over the 1954 total of same companies of $1,134,872,946.

The outlook for 1956 is bright. In January demand was running 8 per cent ahead of booming 1955.

The importance of Middle East oil continues to grow. U. S. government agencies had estimated that the proved oil reserves in that area came to around 100 billion barrels. Some American oil authorities put their own estimate higher. But this month a report released by the joint congressional committee on atomic energy raised the estimate to "at least 230 billion barrels."

This report figures total reserve outside the Russian orbit at 306 billion barrels and puts the United States' proved reserves at 35 billion, or about one-seventh the size of the oil reserves under Middle Eastern sands.

American oil companies have large investments in that area. Their pipelines run through both Arab and Israeli territory. And American oilmen will have a good deal at stake if armed conflict break out between the two forces. They also have even more to lose if the Russians succeed in their evident intention of pushing their influence into the Middl eEast nations.

POLLY BERGEN, TV and film actress, and Freddie Fields, vice president of the Music Corporation of America, are shown in a New York nightclub where they admitted a secret marriage. Their wedding took place February 13 in Alexandria, Va. She is the ex-wife of actor Jerome Courtland. He was formerly wed to actress Edith Fellows. They will honeymoon in Trinidad. (International)

Stevenson Gives Analysis Of Errors Cited By Truman

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson gave his version today of what former President Harry S. Truman called "mistakes" in the Illinoisan's 1952 campaign as Democratic presidential candidate.

Stevenson acknowledged there had been poor coordination between his headquarters and Washington but said he had not been aware of it at the time and regretted it now.

He defended his position, however, on several other campaign phases criticized by Truman in the former President's memoirs.

Stevenson made his reply in the New York Times, which is publishing the memoirs.

Truman said that Stevenson, by appointing Stephen A. Mitchell to replace Frank E. McKinney as Democratic national chairman, and by setting up campaign headquarters in Springfield, Ill., gave the impression he wanted to disassociate himself from the Truman regime.

Concerning the chairmanship appointment, Stevenson said that "appointing a personal friend was a mistake that most all presidential candidates have made."

"Mr. Truman doubts the wisdom of my having set up my personal campaign headquarters at Springfield. But I was governor of Illinois. It was my capital, and my continuing responsibility was there through the campaign."

To a Truman contention that he "went on the defensive" on the question of Communists in government, Stevenson said that "as I reread these speeches now they seem to me bluntly forthright on the subject of Republican smears and slanders on the Communist issue."

"Finally," said Stevenson, "Mr. Truman may be right that if I had accepted his proposal in January (1952) to run for the nomination, I would have received at least three million more votes.

"But I don't see how I could have done it—in good faith—even if I had wanted to, because I had already asked the people of Illinois to re-elect me as their governor and it was too late to withdraw my petition."

Farmlands in Iceland which have been covered by ice for 600 years are now again in use as the glaciers retreat.

Conservatives Win Vote On Commons

LONDON (AP)—A two-day debate on Britain's financial position has ended with a 325-259 vote of confidence in the Eden government's new anti-inflation moves.

The victory for the Conservatives came in the House of Commons Tuesday night after a stiff opposition Labor party attack on Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan's first economic steps.

British employment is higher than ever, but the soaring rate of home buying has cut into the campaign to funnel more British goods into overseas markets.

Youth In Coma Nearly 4 Years

DEMING, N. M. (AP)—A 20-year old youth is nearing the end of his fourth year of "living death" here.

Once a strapping high school student, Jimmy Smith has been in a coma since March 30, 1952.

On that day he suffered a severe brain injury in an auto accident.

Except for reflex automatic movements, he has not moved his head, legs or arms since.

As far as medical knowledge goes, say doctors here, Jimmy Smith is now in one of the longest complete comas in history.

High Copper Price Brings Some Regrets

Producers Fearing Tag On Metal May Help Substitutes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Copper today is at the highest price level since the time some 80 years ago when it was considered a scarce metal

At 46 cents a pound copper brings boom times in the mining states, but producers aren't as gleeful as you might think. They fear high priced copper will lose some permanent markets to substitutes—chiefly aluminum and plastics

The United States uses so much copper now — more than half of that mined each year this side of the Iron Curtain — that it can no longer control the world market.

Chile can, and just has, forced the price up here. Europe can, and does, snag copper supplies that American users would like to have.

The Copper & Brass Research Assn holds out hope of a 16 per cent increase in copper producing capacity in the non-Communist world in the next three years

Copper users here clamor for relief now — eyeing the government's strategic stockpile of the metal and urging tough curbs on the export of copper scrap.

If you're in a hurry for copper it seems as scarce a metal now as 80 years ago, before the big mines were opened. If you go to a custom smelter for copper today you may pay more than 52 cents a pound. A year ago it cost 30 cents Early in 1950 the price was as low as 16 cents. Government controls in World War II pegged it at 12 cents.

There are several reasons for the present price squeeze on American consumers. Demand here is high—the U. S Bureau of Mines says per capita consumption of copper has tripled in the last 50 years. The United States now must import more than a third of what it uses, dickering for it in the world market. Europe's appetite for copper to feed its industrial boom is great, too—and Europeans are willing to pay higher prices.

Strikes in the three principal producing areas — the United States, Chile and Africa — have tightened supplies. Consumers here charge that, for reasons of diplomacy, the United States doesn't resist Chilean pressure for higher prices with all the forces it could use. And the U. S governn-ent has been storing copper away against the day it might be needed for defense.

Copper expansion programs are under way, the Copper & Brass Research Assn. notes today in a survey of world production. Existing mines are tapping additional ore bodies, and new properties will come into production during the next three years.

The association estimates mine production outside the Iron Curtain as 2,778,000 tons in 1955. It estimates that strikes prevented the mining of another 150,000 tons, giving a capacity total of 2,928,000 tons. It says 229,500 additional tons will be added to capacity this year, another 105,500 in 1957, and 123,600 more in 1958. This would bring total capacity in 1958 to 3,386,600 tons.

But demand could keep on rising, too. The Bureau of Mines reports that in the United States per capita consumption jumped from 5 pounds in 1900 to 17 pounds by 1954 Yet, outside the United States, world consumption was less than 2 pounds per capita by 1954.

Attorney Group May Not Campaign For Candidates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposal to give active support to judicial candidates endorsed by the Columbus Bar Assn. was withdrawn Wednesday, the group's president, Atty. Collis G. Lane, announced.

Lane said the proposal was scraped after new "arguments" had been presented against it. He said he hoped a modified plan will be adopted by the association before the May 8 primary election.

Under the proposed plan, candidates for judicial office would be rated by association members on a point-system based on their character and legal attributes, including the raising of campaign funds and employment of a campaign manager.

The association now polls its members on judicial candidates they prefer to see elected. Results of the poll are made public.

Lt. Gov. Brown Sticking By Personal Data In Literature

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Gov. John Brown, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, last night said he stood by a campaign brochure that stated he studied at three Ohio colleges.

"The only change I might make would be in grammar," Brown said of the brochure statements which were challenged in newspaper stories.

"I wasn't trying to fool anyone," Brown told the Akron Newspaper Guild. "I don't claim to be a brilliant or highly educated man, but I don't think the governor of Ohio must have degrees from every college."

The brochure stated Brown "studied at Ohio University and attended Cleveland College and Akron Law School."

The Cleveland News said a check of registrars' officers at Cleveland College and Ohio University failed to indicate Brown ever attended either institution.

Brown described himself as the son of a coal miner who immigrated from Scotland to Athens County, Ohio. He said the family moved to Lancaster and lived for 17 years on a Methodist camp ground outside the city.

"I attended a one room county school and had to walk two and a half miles to school every morning," Brown said. "I could have painted myself as the Abe Lincoln of Fairfield County, but I didn't feel that would be fair."

He produced three receipts for registration fees for three pre-law courses in the extension division at Ohio University in Athens; a letter on Supreme Court of Ohio stationery that mentioned courses he had taken uader "Dr. Schumacher" at Cleveland College while Brown was in the service, and a letter that mentioned courses at Akron Law School.

The Akron Beacon Journal said a check at the Akron Law School showed Brown had taken several courses there after signing a statement that he would not claim credit for them in asking admission to the bar, since he did not have the necessary background.

Because of the brochure, Ray Aldrich, Republican chairman in Brown's home county of Medina, withdrew his support of Brown, and resigned when the county central committee affirmed its endorsement.

Brown is opposed in the primary election by C. William O'Neill, state attorney general.

Viet Nam Asks French To Leave

PARIS (AP)—South Viet Nam has asked France to withdraw all remaining French troops from South Vietnamese territory. French officials said the request is being studied.

France began with drawing troops from Indochina shortly after signing of the Geneva agreements of 1954, but some 15,000 are believed still there.

A clause of the agreements obliged France to withdraw troops from Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia whenever the governments of these states asked it to.

High Copper Price Brings Some Regrets

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Copper today is at the highest price level since the time some 80 years ago when it was considered a scarce metal.

At 46 cents a pound copper brings boom times in the mining states, but producers aren't as gleeful as you might think. They fear high priced copper will lose some permanent markets to substitutes—chiefly aluminum and plastics.

The United States uses so much copper now — more than half of that mined each year this side of the Iron Curtain — that it can no longer control the world market.

Chile can, and just has, forced the price up here. Europe can, and does, snag copper supplies that American users would like to have.

The Copper & Brass Research Assn. holds out hope of a 16 per cent increase in copper producing capacity in the non-Communist world in the next three years.

Revenue Officer Furnishes Data

All Returns Subject To Later Audit

Taxpayers of the Cincinnati district were cautioned today by District Director Russell A. Welch of the Internal Revenue Service for the Cincinnati District that preparation of their 1955 tax forms by Internal Revenue Service personnel, or aid in preparing them, is no guarantee that the returns will not be audited. Neither does it guarantee that such returns will be acceped as otherwise complete and valid.

"Many taxpayers," Welch said, "think that returns prepared in our offices are finished and that they need have no further concern with them. This isn't true. Our agents who prepare or assist are merely following the information provided by taxpayers.

"If later check reveals discrepancies or even incorrect figures, the affected taxpayer must be prepared to explain and account for the entries in question."

Welch urged each taxpayer to attempt preparation of his own return. The first step necessary to self - preparation of returns, he pointed out, is complete availability of business or financial records for 1955. Careful reading of tax forms and instruction booklets, he said, should enable most taxpayers to come up with the right answers.

Judge Dismisses Contempt Motion

After hearing a motion filed by the defendant in the case of George Cline against Bessie Cline Maley, charging Cline with contempt of court for failure to pay regular alimony for support of two minor children, Judge John P. Case dismissed the motion on the ground that the plaintiff had been hospitalized, ill and out of employment, and unable to pay the amount regularly as originally ordered by the court.

It was brought out that plaintiff had paid over $700 and was in arears some $300 on his payments.

It was established that the plaintiff had been in the hospital 11 days as result of a heart attack, had been unable to work most of the time, and only employed a short time in recent months.

At the time of the last snowfall, the children in Mrs. Pensyl's fourth grade at Rose Avenue School were studying about poetry. They selected and read poems to the class and each child chose a poem to learn. This study led to a desire to write poems of their own, and the following are some of the thoughts expressed by the children.

THE SNOW

The snow is so white as it lies on the ground.
Do you like the snow as it lies all around?
Do you like the snow? Some children do.
As it lies all over the ground.

THE SNOWMAN

I'd like to make a snowman
In the snow today.
All the children would play with me,
And we'd be happy and gay.

WHEN IT SNOWS

When it snows, everything is white.
It looks like fairyland.

White snow, light snow, come snow.
The snow is cold and it bites my nose
As throught the snow I go.

Farm Bureau Co-op Meeting Mar. 2

Jack Kurkowski's Xylophone Band to play at Co-op meeting here.

Members of the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association today were getting ready to elect two directors, hear reports on the year's business and enjoy some entertainment when the annual meeting of the association is held in the high school auditorium here the night of March 2.

Robert Case, the president, is to call the meeting to order at 8 o'clock.

Two of four candidates are to be chosen for the board of directors. Nominated by the committee of Case, Pierce Miller and Elmer Simerl, were Verne Wilson and Lowell Kaufman, both members of the board whose terms expire, and Thomas Braden and Orville Mickle. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Other members of the board are Roscoe Duff, vice president, Maurice Sollars, secretary-treasurer Ralph Agle and Ralph Theobald.

Under the association's by-laws, the board will elect the officers at its next regular monthly meeting.

One of the highlights of the annual meeting will be the report on the year's business by Clarence Cooper, the general manager. In his report, which will follow the pattern of reports through the years, Cooper will tell the members of the association just how much business was done during the previous 12-month period, whether it showed an increase or a decrease, how much the expenses were and whether red or black ink was used in balancing the books.

The report also will outline the services added to the association's operations.

In his letter to the members, Secy-Treas. Sollars said significantly that "the year 1955 has been another successful year in the operations of your business." This is regarded as something of a tip-off on the kind of report that Manager Cooper will give. However, the manager will fill the details and facts and figures.

After a two hour caucus the city commissioners elected to frame a charter for the city's proposed change of government, adjourned to wait for council to appropriate $2,400 asked by the commission for operating expenses at Chillicothe.

A conference with the council finance committee is planned to ascertain more about the funds.

The committee plans to present a tentative draft of the charter on March 6, and it can be altered after that if found necessary.

Revenue Officer Furnishes Data

All Returns Subject To Later Audit

Taxpayers of the Cincinnati district were cautioned today by District Director Russell A. Welch of the Internal Revenue Service for the Cincinnati District that preparation of their 1955 tax forms by Internal Revenue Service personnel, or aid in preparing them, is no guarantee that the returns will not be audited. Neither does it guarantee that such returns will be acceped as otherwise complete and valid.

"Many taxpayers," Welch said, "think that returns prepared in our offices are finished and that they need have no further concern with them. This isn't true. Our agents who prepare or assist are merely following the information provided by taxpayers.

"If later check reveals discrepancies or even incorrect figures, the affected taxpayer must be prepared to explain and account for the entries in question."

Welch urged each taxpayer to attempt preparation of his own return. The first step necessary to self - preparation of returns, he pointed out, is complete availability of business or financial records for 1955. Careful reading of tax forms and instruction booklets, he said, should enable most taxpayers to come up with the right answers.

Judge Dismisses Contempt Motion

After hearing a motion filed by the defendant in the case of George Cline against Bessie Cline Maley, charging Cline with contempt of court for failure to pay regular alimony for support of two minor children, Judge John P. Case dismissed the motion on the ground that the plaintiff had been hospitalized, ill and out of employment, and unable to pay the amount regularly as originally ordered by the court.

It was brought out that plaintiff had paid over $700 and was in arears some $300 on his payments.

It was established that the plaintiff had been in the hospital 21 days as result of a heart attack, had been unable to work most of the time, and only employed a short time in recent months.

U. S. Route 35, which passes through Washington C. H., is to have a $500,000 motel to be constructed in Montgomery County not far west of the Greene-Montgomery county line.

The motel will contain 52 units constructed in an H shape, with central storage and utilities forming the cross bar. A swimming pool will be a feature of the motel.

The motel is to occupy a four acre tract, with ample blacktop paving surrounding the building.

Construction begins April 1, according to Charles W. DePorter, owner of the land and head of the construction company which will erect the building.

Your School Report Card

(City School Superintendent)

At the time of the last snowfall, the children in Mrs. Pensyl's fourth grade at Rose Avenue School were studying about poetry. They selected and read poems to the class and each child chose a poem to learn. This study led to a desire to write poems of their own, and the following are some of the thoughts expressed by the children.

THE SNOW

The snow is so white as it lies on the ground.
Do you like the snow as it lies all around?
Do you like the snow? Some children do.
As it lies all over the ground.
by John Cline

THE SNOWMAN

I'd like to make a snowman
In the snow today.
All the children would play with me,
And we'd be happy and gay.
by Ronnie Jones

WHEN IT SNOWS

When it snows, everything is white.
It looks like fairyland.
The trees are white and everything is light.
by David Johns

WHITE SNOW

White snow, light snow, come snow.
The snow is cold and it bites my nose
As throught the snow I go.
by Phyllis Morgan

SNOW FLAKES

Snow flakes from up so high
Like diamonds in the sky.
Oh, so high in the sky
Make memory of by and by.
I like to see them in the sky
Above the world so high.
They look like angels in the sky.
by Fred Beard

Farm Bureau Co-op Meeting Mar. 2

Jack Kurkowski's Xylophone Band to play at Co-op meeting here.

Members of the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association today were getting ready to elect two directors, hear reports on the year's business and enjoy some entertainment when the annual meeting of the association is held in the high school auditorium here the night of March 2.

Robert Case, the president, is to call the meeting to order at 8 o'clock.

Two of four candidates are to be chosen for the board of directors. Nominated by the committee of Case, Pierce Miller and Elmer Simerl, were Verne Wilson and Lowell Kaufman, both members of the board whose terms expire, and Thomas Braden and Orville Mickle. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Other members of the board are Roscoe Duff, vice president, Maurice Sollars, secretary-treasurer Ralph Agle and Ralph Theobald.

Under the association's by-laws, the board will elect the officers at its next regular monthly meeting.

One of the highlights of the annual meeting will be the report on the year's business by Clarence Cooper, the general manager. In his report, which will follow the pattern of reports through the years, Cooper will tell the members of the association just how much business was done during the previous 12-month period, whether it showed an increase or a decrease, how much the expenses were and whether red or black ink was used in balancing the books.

The report also will outline the services added to the association's operations.

In his letter to the members, Secy-Treas. Sollars said significantly that "the year 1955 has been another successful year in the operations of your business." This is regarded as something of a tip-off on the kind of report that Manager Cooper will give. However, the manager will fill the details and facts and figures.

John Sims, a former executive-secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, is to be the speaker of the evening.

Secy-Treas. Sollars told the members in his letter to them that "Mr. Sims is a find speaker and I know that he will have a lot of our farm problems to discuss with us."

The evening's entertainment will feature Jack Kurkowski's Xylophone Band, which is billed as "a stageful of versatile young artists with a musical repertoir unequaled in the entertainment field."

The troupe of entertainers won the applause of the 1950 meeting of the association.

Owner Of Ciro's Night Club Plans To Shut Famed Spot

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Owner Herman Hover said today he plans to close down his world - famed Ciro's night club about May 26.

His threat to end the long and colorful history of the Sunset Strip showplace stems, he said, from "corrupt practices" in the entertainment industry. But he declined to elaborate.

"We haven't had a strike," he remarked. "We haven't had labor troubles. We've had more big names than any other night club in the world, and we've had some wonderful parties. But certain practices have made it very difficult to continue in business. I'm not going to fight it any longer.

"But Ciro's is going out in a blaze of glory. Our last acts will be Pearl Bailey, Maurice Chevalier and Martin and Lewis. I expect to close the place down around May 26 or perhaps a little later."

He admitted that he is "leaving the door a little open," but doubts if the situation will alter enough to change his mind.

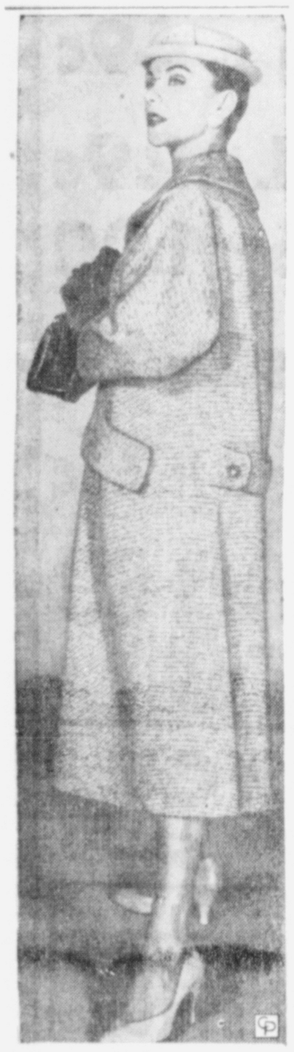

"I don't plan to sell Ciro's," Hover said. "I have worked too hard for it in 14 years, and I wouldn't want to see it made into something second rate. I don't contemplate keeping it open as a restaurant only, but I will use it for parties."

Hover said he planned to go into the production and direction of television films.

If he carries out his threat to shut down, it will mark the end of a landmark in Hollywood. The plush nitery has added color, scandal and amusement to the movietown scene.

Many a hot romance has blossomed or faded within its gilded walls. It can boast of as many notable fistic encounters as most arenas in the United States. What stories those walls could tell!

There was the night hot-tempered Frank Sinatra got into a beef with a New York newspaperman and had to pay off $7,000 in court for his handiwork.

A MUCH-OF-THE-YEAR COAT in silk-and-wool, is straight in front and belted in the back to flatten inverted side pleats. A lining of gold taffeta piped with amber silk velvet contrasts to pretty advantage with the gold, brown and white mixture of the coat fabric. The coat is from George Carmel's spring collection.

Memories

By JACOB MILLER

The early pioneer was very much impressed by the magestic Buckeye tree, which was found in profusion over the State of Ohio.

The Indians called the Buckeye, "Hetuck," or in their language, "Big Buckeye." "A Buckeye," was the appellation to all dwellers of Ohio, who happened to be visiting any other state.

The Buckeye looks very much like the eye of a buck deer so naturally the name Buckeye was applied to the nut of this tree. When the pioneer found a lot of Buckeye trees in the forest, he built his home there, for he knew that the Buckeye only flourished in the richest of soils.

When the first log-cabin was built the pioneer chose to build the cabin out of Buckeye timber; due to the softness and lightness of it's wood which made it precious; for in those times, laborers were few, and axes once broken on hard timber, could not be repaired. Of all of the trees in the forest, the Buckeye est arrested the rifle bullets of the Indians.

When the pioneer family increased, cradles were necessary, and they could not so easily be dug out of any other tree. Many of our great men and women of former years were rocked in Buckeye troughs. The Buckeye trees, due to their softness and profusion, was chosen as the first trees to be cleared from the land and afforded the early settler valuable assistance. The Buckeye tree was also used to make plates and bowls and various table-ware. The back-logs of the fireplace of the fire-places, were usually from these logs, due to their fire-resisting qualities; the bark of the tree, was used for making medicine for ague and fevers. I have seen many men carry a Buckeye in his pocket to ward off rheumatism.

The Buckeye is said to be poisonous, and we had the experience of one of our children eating a portion of a Buckeye. We rushed her to a doctor, and he said to give her plenty of sweet-milk. She showed no signs of illness, but I would not advise anyone to experiment with a Buckeye. These trees make splendid shade trees, and have a profusion of cluster - like blooms.

Consistently Best Actors On Television Said Babies

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The consistently best entertainers on television are babies. You don't have to feed, change or discipline them. You can just sit back and watch 'em.

Baby watching is as therapeutic a sport as bird watching — as long as you aren't responsible for the babies. A baby's clutching hands are the most fascinating devices in God's creation. The beatific smile of a born heller just before he dumps his cereal on the floor is a profound commentary on life.

Someday some smart TV producer is going to turn his cameras loose for half an hour on a nursery. No commentary will be necessary. The babies simply will go on yelling, fighting, growing, discovering without self-consciousness while the cameras record life. Bet that program would have a big audience too.

Until that day, however, baby watchers will have to be content with the glimpses of babies they catch on that excellent Sunday half-hour program conducted by that great friend of all babies, Dr. Benjamin Spock, on NBC-TV.

Even if you don't have a baby of your own you'll probably get a kick out of listening to and watching Dr. Spock chat with parents about raising kids. He'll never run out of material, of course, because babies keep being born and adults keep heaping new problems on them.

The programs are filmed in Cleveland where Dr. Spock is on the staff of Western Reserve University Medical School. His guests appear at a studio with their babies and baby tenders on a Wednesday. The kids are turned loose in a vast crib equipped with interesting toys while their mamas drink coffee with the doctor. Generally they don't decide on the day's subject until then. And then, away they go before the cameras.

Strange Rebellion Studied In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Fifteen army and air force generals have appealed to leaders of one of South America's strangest rebellions to surrender.

The appeal told the rebels that if they give up they would be allowed to go into exile instead of being tried and imprisoned.

The culprits are four air force officers and 30 men who have seized the City of Santarem, cutting all air and river traffic through the Amazon Valley. Not a single shot has been fired. The reason for the revolt is unknown here.

Month-Old Baby Sporting Molar

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid exclamations of surprise, dentists yesterday examined a full-grown upper left molar in the mouth of Robert Riddle Clinton. He's a month old.

Doctors said they'd never heard of such a young baby getting a back tooth. They decided not to pull it until after X-rays.

The baby's father, Robert R. Clinton of Brooklyn said the tooth came in when the baby was two weeks old.

Kidnap Plot Fails; Woman Victim Freed

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — A husky gunman was captured and his beautiful kidnap victim freed unharmed early today in a frenzied fight outlined by police spotlights.

One bullet fired during the brief battle wounded both the abductor, Eugene C. Hurst, 28, and Robert A. Jackson, 28, the kidnaped woman's husband. The bullet struck Hurst's left leg and Jackson's right.

Blonde Nancy Jackson, 27-year-old mother of three, escaped without injury. She was held captive for 2½ hours.

Hurst, a stocky roustabout, was taken in handcuffs and shackles to St. Mary's Hospital here under heavy guard. He suffered a mass of deep head and face cuts from a battering by Mrs. Jackson's rescuers.

Hurst approached the woman as she entered her car in a parking lot at Pueblo Junior College, where she had attended a night class.

"He asked me if Bob (her husband) was home," Mrs. Jackson said later. "When I told him no, he said: 'Get over; we're going for a ride."

Mrs. Jackson said she had never before seen her abductor, who covered her with his weapon and several times forced her to call home from pay stations.

When she finally reached her husband, Hurst took the telephone and demanded money. He mentioned no figure. Jackson summoned police and Hurst was found and subdued.

Family Doing OK With Bus Travel

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"What we need is a bus," Mrs. Louis Fusz observed as she and her husband and their six children crowded into the family car.

So, one day, her husband drove up in front of their home with a bright red 35-foot bus of 1946 vintage, suggested tearing out all the seats, building bunk beds, installing a kitchen and making draperies for the windows.

Now, a year and several pleasure trips later, all these things have been done—not to mention a battery powered refrigerator and a bottled gas cookstove.

Winchester, oldest of the English "public" schools, was founded in 1382.

Owner Of Ciro's Night Club Plans To Shut Famed Spot

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Owner Herman Hover said today he plans to close down his world - famed Ciro's night club about May 26.

His threat to end the long and colorful history of the Sunset Strip showplace stems, he said, from "corrupt practices" in the entertainment industry. But he declined to elaborate.

"We haven't had a strike," he remarked. "We haven't had labor troubles. We've had more big names than any other night club in the world, and we've had some wonderful parties. But certain practices have made it very difficult to continue in business. I'm not going to fight it any longer.

"But Ciro's is going out in a blaze of glory. Our last acts will be Pearl Bailey, Maurice Chevalier and Martin and Lewis. I expect to close the place down around May 26 or perhaps a little later."

He admitted that he is "leaving the door a little open," but doubts if the situation will alter enough to change his mind.

"I don't plan to sell Ciro's," Hover said. "I have worked too hard for it in 14 years, and I wouldn't want to see it made into something second rate. I don't contemplate keeping it open as a restaurant only, but I will use it for parties."

Hover said he planned to go into the production and direction of television films.

If he carries out his threat to shut down, it will mark the end of a landmark in Hollywood. The plush nitery has added color, scandal and amusement to the movietown scene.

Many a hot romance has blossomed or faded within its gilded walls. It can boast of as many notable fistic encounters as most arenas in the United States. What stories those walls could tell!

There was the night hot-tempered Frank Sinatra got into a beef with a New York newspaperman and had to pay off $7,000 in court for his handiwork.

Memories

By JACOB MILLER

The early pioneer was very much impressed by the magestic Buckeye tree, which was found in profusion over the State of Ohio.

The Indians called the Buckeye, "Hetuck," or in their language, "Big Buckeye." "A Buckeye," was the appellation to all dwellers of Ohio, who happened to be visiting any other state.

The Buckeye looks very much like the eye of a buck deer so naturally the name Buckeye was applied to the nut of this tree. When the pioneer found a lot of Buckeye trees in the forest, he built his home there, for he knew that the Buckeye only flourished in the richest of soils.

When the first log-cabin was built the pioneer chose to build the cabin out of Buckeye timber; due to the softness and lightness of it's wood which made it precious; for in those times, laborers were few, and axes once broken on hard timber, could not be repaired. Of all of the trees in the forest, the Buckeye est arrested the rifle bullets of the Indians.

When the pioneer family increased, cradles were necessary, and they could not so easily be dug out of any other tree. Many of our great men and women of former years were rocked in Buckeye troughs. The Buckeye trees, due to their softness and profusion, was chosen as the first trees to be cleared from the land and afforded the early settler valuable assistance. The Buckeye tree was also used to make plates and bowls and various table-ware. The back-logs of the fireplace of the fire-places, were usually from these logs, due to their fire-resisting qualities; the bark of the tree, was used for making medicine for ague and fevers. I have seen many men carry a Buckeye in his pocket to ward off rheumatism.

The Buckeye is said to be poisonous, and we had the experience of one of our children eating a portion of a Buckeye. We rushed her to a doctor, and he said to give her plenty of sweet-milk. She showed no signs of illness, but I would not advise anyone to experiment with a Buckeye. These trees make splendid shade trees, and have a profusion of cluster - like blooms.

A MUCH - OF - THE - YEAR COAT in silk - and - wool, is straight in front and belted in the back to flatten inverted side pleats. A lining of gold taffeta piped with amber silk velvet contrasts to pretty advantage with the gold, brown and white mixture of the coat fabric. The coat is from George Carmel's spring collection.

Consistently Best Actors On Television Said Babies

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The consistently best entertainers on television are babies. You don't have to feed, change or discipline them. You can just sit back and watch 'em.

Baby watching is as therapeutic a sport as bird watching — as long as you aren't responsible for the babies. A baby's clutching hands are the most fascinating devices in God's creation. The beatific smile of a born heller just before he dumps his cereal on the floor is a profound commentary on life.

Someday some smart TV producer is going to turn his cameras loose for half an hour on a nursery. No commentary will be necessary. The babies simply will go on yelling, fighting, growing, discovering without self-consciousness while the cameras record life. Bet that program would have a big audience too.

Until that day, however, baby watchers will have to be content with the glimpses of babies they catch on that excellent Sunday half-hour program conducted by that great friend of all babies, Dr. Benjamin Spock, on NBC-TV.

Even if you don't have a baby of your own you'll probably get a kick out of listening to and watching Dr. Spock chat with parents about raising kids. He'll never run out of material, of course, because babies keep being born and adults keep heaping new problems on them.

The programs are filmed in Cleveland where Dr. Spock is on the staff of Western Reserve University Medical School. His guests appear at a studio with their babies and baby tenders on a Wednesday. The kids are turned loose in a vast crib equipped with interesting toys while their mamas drink coffee with the doctor. Generally they don't decide on the day's subject until then. And then, away they go before the cameras.

Strange Rebellion Studied In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Fifteen army and air force generals have appealed to leaders of one of South America's strangest rebellions to surrender.

The appeal told the rebels that if they give up they would be allowed to go into exile instead of being tried and imprisoned.

The culprits are four air force officers and 30 men who have seized the City of Santarem, cutting all air and river traffic through the Amazon Valley. Not a single shot has been fired. The reason for the revolt is unknown here.

Month-Old Baby Sporting Molar

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid exclamations of surprise, dentists yesterday examined a full-grown upper left molar in the mouth of Robert Riddle Clinton. He's a month old.

Doctors said they'd never heard of such a young baby getting a back tooth. They decided not to pull it until after X-rays.

The baby's father, Robert R. Clinton of Brooklyn said the tooth came in when the baby was two weeks old.

His motorcycle hit a series of chuckholes between street car tracks on Detroit Ave. The judgment was against the Cleveland Transit System.

Top Event In Washington's Life: Victory At Trenton

WASHINGTON CROSSING, Pa. (AP)—What event in the life of George Washington is he best remembered for?

Some plump for the cherry tree story, with its famous tagline of truth as small fry seldom tell it: "Yes, Father, I chopped it down with my little hatchet."

Many others certainly single out the dramatic crossing of the Delaware River, from this patch of Pennsylvania earth to strike at the Hessian horde in Trenton, N. J., on Christmas night in 1776.

But what about Valley Forge, and that dreadful 1777-78 winter of privation? There, if anywhere in the new world, was stuff to write about.

The schoolbooks build lasting memories of the account of the Revolutionary War's finale — the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

THE TEXTBOOKS leave enduring impressions too of Washington's inauguration as the nation's first President, and of his Farewell Address.

This being Washington's Birthday, several experts and quite a few simply curious people decided to undertake some research. They also interviewed visitors to this national shrine.

A look into the records showed that Lord Cornwallis, who fought Washington and therefore had good reason to judge his adversary's abilities and exploits, later told his onetime enemy: "Fame will gather your brightest laurels from the banks of the Delaware."

Sir George Trevelyan, the famous Cambridge historian, said of the crucial period of the Revolution climaxed by the Trenton victory:

"It may be doubted whether so small a number of men ever employed so short a space of time with greater and more lasting results upon the history of the world."

Several other historians have held much the same view.

A sampling of public opinion as expressed by people who come here in ever larger numbers was overwhelmingly on the side of the Delaware. Perhaps it couldn't be any other way. For on display here is one of the world's most familiar paintings, Emanuel Leutze's "Washington Crossing the Delaware," which is on loan to the Washington Crossing Park Commission from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Lima Union Shelves Home Picket Plan

LIMA (AP)—James Maxwell, chief steward of Local 724, International Union of Electrical Workers, says the union had called off its plan to picket the homes of returned Westinghouse plant workers.

The union has been on strike at the local plant for many weeks, and some employes have returned to their jobs. Maxwell said one returned worker drove onto a sidewalk and tried to run down two pickets yesterday.

Little Bank Shut By Thefts

No Insurance Covers Kansas Institution

SMOLAN, Kan. (AP)—A shortage attributed to "manipulations" of the cashier has closed a 51-year-old bank here and threatens many of this community's 200 residents with loss of their life savings.

G. W. Lindley, assistant state bank examiner, said there was little hope the Smolan State Bank would reopen. It has less than $370,000 deposits and is not covered by federal insurance.

He said the bank suffered an undetermined loss because of the "manipulations of the cashier, Raymond Holmquist."

Lindley said Holmquist orally admitted to an examiner that he falsified bank records.

Philip Nelson, service station operator, said residents were "stunned and speechless. Most of them didn't believe it at first. Most of them have a little cash left. They're going to keep living."

The bank's president, Albin J. Carlson, is hospitalized with a digestive disorder. He collapsed after notifying examiners.

HOLMQUIST, 44, father of two step-children, was in seclusion at his sister's home in nearby Salina.

No charges have been filed.

J. Alfred Nelson, 72-year-old director of the bank, asked to get his government bonds out of the institution but was stopped by an examiner.

"Nothing can be taken out of this bank until we get a complete record," said the examiner.

"Just wanted to sell the bonds to get something to eat," Nelson mumbled and left.

Lindley termed the shortage of "serious" proportions, although the full amount could not be determined until a complete audit.

With recent additional memberships, the United Nations now represents countries with a total population of 2,245,542,000.

Westinghouse Striker Plans Legal Test Of Idle Pay Claim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A striking Ohio Westinghouse worker will file a claim for unemployment compensation—probably sometime this week. The claim will be disallowed.

A test case will follow which may determine if a "lockout" or a "labor dispute" exists at Westinghouse plants throughout the state. The ruling in the case—which could go to the Ohio Supreme Court—will decide whether Westinghouse workers are eligible for jobless benefits.

This predetermined course of action was announced Tuesday by James R. Tichenor, administrator of the state bureau of unemployment compensation (BUC).

Tichenor's announcement followed meetings between himself and representatives of Westinghouse and the striking International Union of Electrical Workers the past two days.

The BUC last Oct. 16 ruled the Westinghouse work stoppage a "labor dispute." The union now says it is a "lockout," thus making its members eligible for unemployment compensation. None has been paid out so far, although some claims have been filed.

"Arrangements have been completed," said Tichenor, "whereby both parties (Westinghouse and IUE) will have an opportunity to present their arguments at a fact-finding hearing to be held at the earliest possible date."

Tichenor will preside at the earliest possible date."

Tichenor will preside at the hearing which will follow the filing of a claim by a Westinghouse worker, expected later this week.

The BUC chief said both sides are aware the claim will be disallowed and are preparing to present arguments with that in mind.

The claimant must allege that a lockout exists at Ohio Westinghouse plans, Tichenor said.

A recent Pennsylvania ruling declared the strike in that state a "lockout" and made strikers elibible for jobless benefits as of last Dec. 19.

The BUC ruling affects strikers at Westinghouse plants in Columbus, Lima, Newark, Manfield and Cleveland. The ruling may be appealed by the losing party to the board of review. Further appeals may be made through the courts.

London is about 10,800 miles from Bombay via the Cape of Good Hope and about 6,300 via Suez.

Major Transit Bus Strike Scheduled In Dayton Soon

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A major bus strike is scheduled to start March 7 in this city of 244,000 people.

Drivers and maintenance men of City Transit Co., voted 212-0 last night to strike on that date, according to Howard G. Steele, president of Local 1385. The local is part of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America.

City Transit carries 95 per cent of Dayton's bus commuters or 120,000 people daily.

Six days before the strike deadline, City Transit is scheduled to consolidate with Oakwood City Railway Co. and Dayton Suburban Bus Line Co., which together carry 20,000 commuters daily to city suburbs.

A strike by City Transit's 300 drivers and maintenance men could affect operations of Oakwood and Dayton Suburban, which together have 65 employes.

Stoppage of all three lines would practically paralyze the city's transportation network. Private cars and taxis are the only other means of mass transportation.

Steele said the union had rejected City Transit's latest offer of a 10-cent hourly graduated pay increase—five cents retroactive to Jan. 1 and another five cents effective March 3. The old contract expired last Dec. 31.

The union, Steele said, is asking for a 25-cent hourly increase and a 40-hour work week for drivers and maintenance men, who now work 48 and 44 hours, respectively.

The union scaled down its demands from 35 cents an hour, he added. The company boosted its original offer of eight cents an hour.

Bus drivers now are paid $1.80 hourly. The scale for maintenance men was not immediately available.

City council last month granted all three bus lines a fare increase from 10 to 15 cents or four tokens for 50 cents. The increase, effective March 3, was made conditional on merger of the three lines.

Westinghouse Striker Plans Legal Test Of Idle Pay Claim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A striking Ohio Westinghouse worker will file a claim for unemployment compensation—probably sometime this week. The claim will be disallowed.

A test case will follow which may determine if a "lockout" or a "labor dispute" exists at Westinghouse plants throughout the state. The ruling in the case—which could go to the Ohio Supreme Court—will decide whether Westinghouse workers are eligible for jobless benefits.

This predetermined course of action was announced Tuesday by James R. Tichenor, administrator of the state bureau of unemployment compensation (BUC).

Tichenor's announcement followed meetings between himself and representatives of Westinghouse and the striking International Union of Electrical Workers the past two days.

The BUC last Oct. 16 ruled the Westinghouse work stoppage a "labor dispute." The union now says it is a "lockout," thus making its members eligible for unemployment compensation. None has been paid out so far, although some claims have been filed.

"Arrangements have been completed," said Tichenor, "whereby both parties (Westinghouse and UE) will have an opportunity to present their arguments at a fact-finding hearing to be held at the earliest possible date."

Tichenor will preside at the earliest possible date."

Tichenor will preside at the hearing which will follow the filing of a claim by a Westinghouse worker, expected later this week.

The BUC chief said both sides are aware the claim will be disallowed and are preparing to present arguments with that in mind.

The claimant must allege that a lockout exists at Ohio Westinghouse plans, Tichenor said.

A recent Pennsylvania ruling declared the strike in that state a "lockout" and made strikers elibible for jobless benefits as of last Dec. 19.

The BUC ruling affects strikers at Westinghouse plants in Columbus, Lima, Newark, Manfield and Cleveland. The ruling may be appealed by the losing party to the board of review. Further appeals may be made through the courts.

Major Transit Bus Strike Scheduled In Dayton Soon

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A major bus strike is scheduled to start March 7 in this city of 244,000 people.

Drivers and maintenance men of City Transit Co., voted 212-0 last night to strike on that date, according to Howard G. Steele, president of Local 1385. The local is part of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America.

City Transit carries 95 per cent of Dayton's bus commuters or 120,000 people daily.

Six days before the strike deadline, City Transit is scheduled to consolidate with Oakwood City Railway Co. and Dayton Suburban Bus Line Co., which together carry 20,000 commuters daily to city suburbs.

A strike by City Transit's 300 drivers and maintenance men could affect operations of Oakwood and Dayton Suburban, which together have 65 employes.

Stoppage of all three lines would practically paralyze the city's transportation network. Private cars and taxis are the only other means of mass transportation.

Steele said the union had rejected City Transit's latest offer of a 10-cent hourly graduated pay increase—five cents retroactive to Jan. 1 and another five cents effective March 3. The old contract expired last Dec. 31.

The union, Steele said, is asking for a 25-cent hourly increase and a 40-hour work week for drivers and maintenance men, who now work 48 and 44 hours, respectively.

The union scaled down its demands from 35 cents an hour, he added. The company boosted its original offer of eight cents an hour.

Bus drivers now are paid $1.80 hourly. The scale for maintenance men was not immediately available.

City council last month granted all three bus lines a fare increase from 10 to 15 cents or four tokens for 50 cents. The increase, effective March 3, was made conditional on merger of the three lines.

Red China Seizes Businesses; Asks Former Owners To Smile

Stacks of canned food manufactured by the Shanghai I Min Food company which has been taken over by the Communist overlords as a "state-private enterprise."

By F. K. WU

HONG KONG — The Peiping regime has resorted to its trump card to raise money for rearmaments vis-a-vis the United States notwithstanding the mounting bitterness of the exploited people, as previous efforts failed to yield as much as the Chinese Communists expected.

This latest, and most probably the last, venture is the seizure of all the leading industries and enterprises and placing them under government operation in order to increase production and profits. Not only the owners are robbed of their property but they are asked to look happy and enthusiastic about it.

Shanghai newspapers report that industrialists and owners of enterprises "wildly celebrated" the handing over of their property to government operation in the name of "state-private enterprises."

The idea is to show that the people whole-heartedly accepted Communism, when in fact they are forced to hand over their possessions to the state in the same manner as confiscation.

PREVIOUS EFFORTS to acquire more money to sustain a war economy were high taxation, issue of national economic reconstruction bonds on a year to year basis, heavy fines on industrialists, bankers and merchants because of their alleged frauds on the government, establishment of producers' agricultural co-operatives and their conversion to collective farms.

So far the Peiping regime has not been successful in milking out much from the foregoing schemes. Chairman Mao Tse-tung of the Central People's government has taken the initiative in the co-operative farming. However, peasants consider they have been brutally cheated of their toil and contribution in land, seeds and fertilizers.

Even Mao's closest colleagues fear that his brain child may not survive another winter in view of the widespread under-current opposition of the peasants.

While the co-operative farming has a larger scope owing to the fact that 80 percent of China's 500 million people are peasants, seizure of private enterprises and industries may probably yield quicker results. Profits and production are expected to step up under government operation on the basis of Russian experience as advised by the Soviet experts, according to Radio Canton.

WHILE the Communist press and radio give the impression that the public welcomed control and operation of private enterprises, the owners who are deprived of their property and means of livelihood are really very bitter against this confiscatory measure and charge a breach of faith on the part of the Communist authorities.

"Mao-Tse-tung's 'new democracy' stressed that private capital on a small scale was not only permissable but would be safeguarded by his Communist regime," complained an industrialist from Canton whose name cannot be quoted. 'Now private capital goes up in the smoke under the confiscatory name of 'state-private enterprises.'

"The Communist authorities will use our plants and works to increase production, whose proceeds will be used to swell the war chest. We owners will not be given even a pittance."

The capitalist class recalled that even in the Communist flag, one of the five stars represents small time capitalists, who made up a part of the Communist society. Now this class is wiped out, as the Peiping regime wants to grab their property as a get-rich-quick scheme.

IN THEIR desperation to lay hands on potential wealth, the Peiping regime has violated its solemn pledges and his lost the confidence of the people, in the opinion of observers here. Already, for some years the Communist leaders were not taken seriously by the people who regarded them as exploiters and agents of the Kremlin.

The same observers do not believe that the "state-private enterprises" will work out well but only represent a final effort to get the last mite from the already impoverished people. In China's premier industrial city of Shanghai, the workers are under paid and are generally worse off now than in the days of the Nationalists before 1949.

If workers do not put their heart and soul in their work, their output will not be of good quality and quantity, these observers pointed out, and Peiping's trump card may turn out to be the last straw.

SCORES of Hong Kong residents who visited Canton in south China this winter found the general economic situation has deteriorated, while the people are generally undernourished in a community where the cost of living is going up and the standard of living is climbing down. In such circumstances, they are in no position to bear up under the heavy burden of a war economy.

These informants see very restricted domestic markets for manufactured and other goods and believe that the Reds have to make use of foreign markets in Indonesia, Malaya, Burma, India, Ceylon and Europe. Prices of Chinese exports are marked down in order to compete with other products, and the profits to the Chinese Communists are therefore small.

In any event the Chinese Reds are searching every obscure corner for money to finance a future war for the "liberation" of Formosa (Taiwan) and if necessary to fight the United States.

These war measures are indicated by the calling up of youths of 18 and 19 years of age for military service and the exerting of diplomatic pressure on the United States and Great Britain to procure strategic goods, which are cheaper and better than those obtained from or via Soviet Russia.

A NEW CHAPTER in the miracle life story of 21-year-old Patty Lou Williams will be added when she marries U. S. Army Pvt. Edwin Lawrence Peebles, 21, May 6. They are shown looking at her engagement ring in Los Angeles. Patty Lou was born in 1935, prematurely and with a collapsed lung and under-developed heart valves. Ohio Bankers Urged Eye National Debt

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state superintendent of banks has called on Ohio bankers to give thought to the national debt.

Paul Hinkle, addressing the mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers Assn., said that whether controlled by Republicans or Democrats, Congress since 1946 has paid little heed to reducing the national debt.

Recent years have been ones of the greatest prosperity and greatest earnings in the history of the country, he said. Hinkle asked if we can't make payments on the national debt during such times, "when are we going to be able to start reducing this obligation?"

Slavs Bomb Big Icepacks On Rivers

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslav air force planes bombed giant icepacks blocking Adriatic rivers today in a "declaration of war" against Europe's worst winter.

Special teams of rifle sharpshooters patrolled Communist Poland in a hunt against marauding wolf packs driven out of their lairs by starvation.

Britain's big potato stocks froze solid in Lincolnshire. Picking of green vegetables came to a halt.

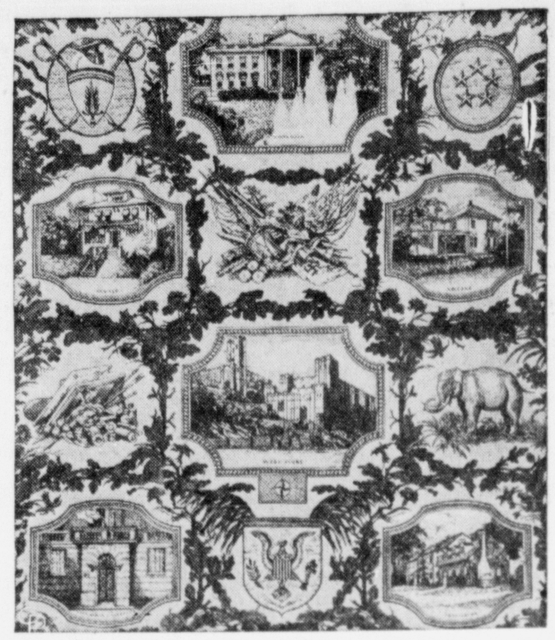

Spanish air force planes finally succeeded in dropping food supplies to nearly 60 persons marooned for 15 days atop the highest mountain on Majorca in the Mediterranean Balearic Islands. The group, which reportedly included six Americans, is preparing a U. S. radar station.

German weather experts said the freezeup may be Central Europe's worst in 200 years. They said the average temperature for the first 20 days of February ran slightly below the lowest average for the month since records were first kept in 1766.

Dairy Farmers Slated For Parley

COLUMBUS (AP)—About 500 dairy farmers from all Ohio counties are expected on the Ohio State University campus Saturday for the annual meeting of the Central Ohio Breeding Assn.

Principal speaker will be Dr. C. F. Huffman of the Michigan State University faculty, an authority on dairy cattle nutrition.

Girls School Chief To Change Jobs

COLUMBUS (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Ethell, superintendent of Girls Industrial School near Delaware, is scheduled to leave soon.

John J. Ferguson, chief of the State Division of Juvenile Research, Classification and Training, said Mrs. Ethell will take another post with the state in the Juvenile Placement Bureau.

A new superintendent is scheduled for appointment at Delaware sometime in March, he said. Shift in juvenile institution superintendents also involves the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, Ferguson said. The selections are being made under legislation approved by the last Assembly.

IN THEIR desperation to lay hands on potential wealth, the Peiping regime has violated its solemn pledges and his lost the confidence of the people, in the opinion of observers here. Already, for some years the Communist leaders were not taken seriously by the people who regarded them as exploiters and agents of the Kremlin.

The same observers do not believe that the "state-private enterprises" will work out well but only represent a final effort to get the last mite from the already impoverished people. In China's premier industrial city of Shanghai, the workers are under paid and are generally worse off now than in the days of the Nationalists before 1949.

If workers do not put their heart and soul in their work, their output will not be of good quality and quantity, these observers pointed out, and Peiping's trump card may turn out to be the last straw.

SCORES of Hong Kong residents who visited Canton in south China this winter found the general economic situation has deteriorated, while the people are generally undernourished in a community where the cost of living is going up and the standard of living is climbing down. In such circumstances, they are in no position to bear up under the heavy burden of a war economy.

These informants see very restricted domestic markets for manufactured and other goods and believe that the Reds have to make use of foreign markets in Indonesia, Malaya, Burma, India, Ceylon and Europe. Prices of Chinese exports are marked down in order to compete with other products, and the profits to the Chinese Communists are therefore small.

In any event the Chinese Reds are searching every obscure corner for money to finance a future war for the "liberation" of Formosa (Taiwan) and if necessary to fight the United States.

These war measures are indicated by the calling up of youths of 18 and 19 years of age for military service and the exerting of diplomatic pressure on the United States and Great Britain to procure strategic goods, which are cheaper and better than those obtained from or via Soviet Russia.

Ohio Bankers Urged Eye National Debt

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state superintendent of banks has called on Ohio bankers to give thought to the national debt.

Paul Hinkle, addressing the midwinter meeting of the Ohio Bankers Assn., said that whether controlled by Republicans or Democrats, Congress since 1946 has paid little heed to reducing the national debt.

Recent years have been ones of the greatest prosperity and greatest earnings in the history of the country, he said. Hinkle asked if we can't make payments on the national debt during such times, "when are we going to be able to start reducing this obligation?"

Slavs Bomb Big Icepacks On Rivers

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslav air force planes bombed giant icepacks blocking Adriatic rivers today in a "declaration of war" against Europe's worst winter.

Special teams of rifle sharpshooters patrolled Communist Poland in a hunt against marauding wolf packs driven out of their lairs by starvation.

The shivering Continent counted 762 known dead as the subzero spell rolled up its 23rd day with little or no relief in sight.

Floods and landslides caused fresh chaos in Italy and parts of Southern Europe as thaw set in.

Crop damage on the Continent ran into hundreds of millions of dollars. Vegetable stocks ran dangerously low in many places.

Britain's big potato stocks froze solid in Lincolnshire. Picking of green vegetables came to a halt.

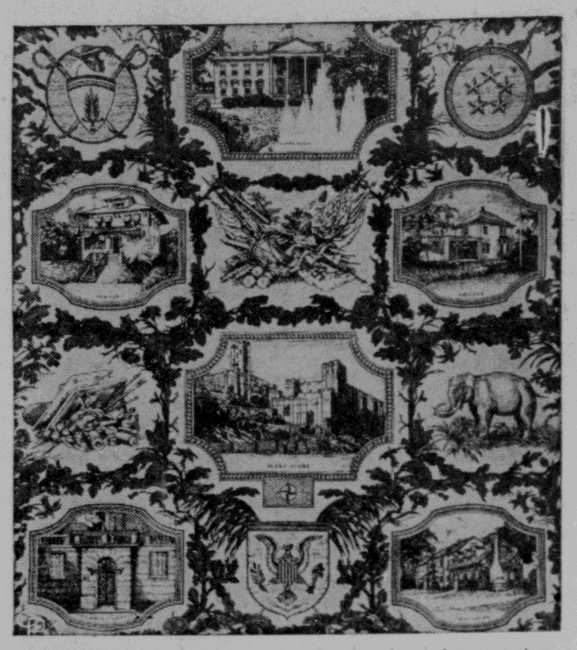

Spanish air force planes finally succeeded in dropping food supplies to nearly 60 persons marooned for 15 days atop the highest mountain on Majorca in the Mediterranean Balearic Islands. The group, which reportedly included six Americans, is preparing a U. S. radar station.

German weather experts said the freezeup may be Central Europe's worst in 200 years. They said the average temperature for the first 20 days of February ran slightly below the lowest average for the month since records were first kept in 1766.

Dairy Farmers Slated For Parley

COLUMBUS (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Ethell, superintendent of Girls Industrial School near Delaware, is scheduled to leave soon.

John J. Ferguson, chief of the State Division of Juvenile Research, Classification and Training, said Mrs. Ethell will take another post with the state in the Juvenile Placement Bureau.

A new superintendent is scheduled for appointment at Delaware sometime in March, he said. Shift in juvenile institution superintendents also involves the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, Ferguson said. The selections are being made under legislation approved by the last Assembly.

Dayton Facing 2 Tough Foes Before NIT

East Kentucky, Cincy Stand in Pathway Of Twice-Beaten Flyers

(By The Associated Press)

Only two foes, both formidable, remained on the University of Dayton's basketball schedule today before the fourth-ranked Flyers journey to New York for National Invitational Tournament action.

The high-riding Flyers bagged their 21st success of the season last night with an easy 80-48 triumph over outclassed Seatle. The twice-beaten Dayton quintet has contests remaining with Eastern Kentucky and Cincinnati before the post-season tourney.

Dayton, looking ahead to a possible tussle with Louisville in the NIT, socked the touring Seattle team in effortless fashion.

Big Bill Uhl netted 26 markers to lead a Dayton offense which rolled up a 13-4 lead before the losers could tally a basket. Uhl, in addition to pacing all scorers, picked off 15 rebounds in the 28 minutes he played.

Dayton used all available players, and along with Uhl, Jim Palmer, Jim Paxson and Al Sicking hit in the double figures.

Only Louisville has tarnished the Flyers' gaudy record this season. The Cards tripped Dayton by two points in an overtime last month and nipped the Elyers again last week by a three point margin.

In other action, Miami defeated Marshall 103-82, in an Mid-American Conference game. Marshall already had clinched the conference championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Bill Kennon paced Miami with 27 points while Cebe Price was high for Marshall with 24.

It was Marshall's fourth defeat in 21 games and its second in 12 conference games. Miami is 9-8 for the season and 7-4 in conference play.

Ohio University handed Morehead (Ky) its ninth defeat in 24 games, 113-99. The winning Bobcats set three new school records. The 113 points established new floor and team records. Both previously were 105. And the combined score of 212 points erased the old mark of 190 for the Athens gym.

Dan Swartz, the nation's third leading scorer, plunked in 33 points for the losers.

Ohio now has a 12-9 record.

John Carroll kept alive its hopes for the title tie with Wayne in the President's Conference, as it downed city rival Case Tech 97-82.

Paul Schlimm was high for Carroll with 24 while Joe Girlando hit 29 for Case, losers of its last nine games.

In Ohio Conference action, Denison squeaked by Kenyon 72-69 and Ohio Wesleyan edged Otterbein 91-90.

Bob Brenand paced the Big Red with 22 points and Dan Bumstead led the losers with 21. Denison now stands 11-2 in the conference to Kenyon's 4-7.

Russ Davis sunk 18 of 22 free throws to set a new Ohio Wesleyan record in his team's victory. The lead changed hands 25 times and the score was knotted 15 times in the closely played game.

Jerry Wirth was high for the losers with 34 points while Davis paced Wesleyan with 30.

Otterbein now is 6-12 overall and 6-11 in the conference. Wesleyan stands at 5-14 overall and 4-9 in the loop.

Forward Wynn Hawkins netted 38 points to lead Baldwin-Wallace to a thrilling 121-108 victory over Wittenberg. Center Terry Deems was high for the Lutherans with 32.

It was the Yellow Jackets 11th win in 16 starts while Wittenberg stands at 7-11.

Middlecoff Keeps Role As Favorite

HOUSTON (AP)—After three practice rounds of subpar golf, Cary Middlecoff was a strong favorite today in the first round of the $30,000 Houston Open.

Mike Souchak, defending champion, was rated second but his odds were 5-1 compared with a 3-1 for the former dentist.

Other favorites: Gene Littler, 6-1; Tommy Bolt, 8-1; Lloyd Mangrum, 10-1; and Jimmy Demaret and Jackie Burke Jr. 12-1.

Japs To Buy Trotting Mares Here

Only Trotters Acceptable For Sport In Japan

A couple of leaders in Japan's relatively new sport of harness horse racing today were looking to Fayette County to give them a lift.

M. Sato, the secretary of the Japanese Harness Racing Association, and A. Marutani, a Japanese exporter, came here to buy 30 standardbred mares which they want to send back to Japan.

When they found they could not find that many trotters on the west coast, they were advised to select a qualified representative in Fayette County which would be the headquarters, because this is considered the heart of the harness producing country.

Dudley Moon, a breeder, trainer and race driver here, has been named as that representative. And, Thursday morning he unfolded the background of this unusual enterprise.

Moon, along with Jay Tyson, a representative of the Fasig-Tipton, one of the country's biggest horse sales organizations, have been commissioned by the two Japanese horsemen to buy 18 to 20 mares for export to Japan within the next couple of weeks.

Moon said their horse hunting ground was that vast area east of Springfield, Ill., from lakes to gulf.

He grinned as the commented that he knew of four good mares here that would come up to the standards set by the Japanese.

ALL OF THESE mares, he said, are to be shipped to Washington C. H., from wherever they are bought by Moon and Tyson, and that the two Japanese would then come here to look them over.

Moon said he and Tyson were limited somewhat in their selections: they must be between 3 and 8 years old, have marks of 2:10 to 2:15 and above all, they must be trotters.

Moon went on to explain that the Japanese "just won't have any part of pacers." He said he did not know why.

He said he understood that, since the sport is just getting started in Japan, the Japanese wanted mares with blood lines that would make them good broodmare prospects but that they could not afford to get those with faster marks. This he explained, narrows the field to choose from but he emphasized that a fast race record is not essential to a good producing mare.

However, Moon said he understood that these mares would be raced for a time when they first arrive in Japan. He commented that while they would not be fast enough to race in the United States successfully, they would be good enough to put on a good race meeting in Japan because they would all be in the same time bracket.

MOON SAID that he and Tyson would keep their eyes open for a good sire or two. But, there is a strict taboo on geldings as well as pacers. The Japanese are interested, he said, only in trotting mares.

Moon declined to say what he though the mares could be bought for, but he commented that "they will cost them plenty before they get them to Japan." the reference, of course, was the shipping cost.

He said, too, that the Japanese were wanting a horseman to make the voyage to Japan with the horses. It would be a three-month trip, he said and added that "I'd like to go, but I just couldn't take that much time".

The standardbred horse sale at Delaware Tuesday and Wednesday shed some light on the price of harness race horses.

Five from Fayette County were sold—one by Ray Garrity, one by Gene Bock, one by Frank Junk, one by Moon (Song Baby a 4-year-old pacer for $2,800) and one by Mrs. Tom McCoy (a 2-year-old sister to Sunset Bay for $1,800).

At the two-day sale, 196 horse went on the auction block and brought a total of $127,760. The top price was $10,000.

Added Power In Cars Told In Speed Test

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Increased power of U. S. built sports and passenger cars is apparent in speed records they set on the beach here yesterday.

Tim Flock of Atlanta, Ga., drove a 1956 Chrysler 300B faster than any American stock car had ever been clocked in a two-way run over the measured mile on the ocean sand—139.91 miles an hour.

The National Assn. for Stock Car Automobile Racing set up a new classification of unlimited piston displacement for the new powerful cars. Flock's mark automatically became a record in that division.

The fastest previous time for an American strictly stock car in these trials was 127.58 mph set last year in a 1955 Chrysler 300.

This became a record in the middle bracket class and immediately was erased Wednesday by Danny Eames of Detroit. He drove a Dodge 500D at an average of 130.57 mph.

Zora Arkus-Duntov, Detroit test driver, set a new high for modified American sports cars, driving a modified 1956 Chevrolet Corvette 147.29 mph. The old record was 127.38.

The record for U. S. production sports cars went up to 146.08 mph on a run by John Fitch of Stamford, Conn., in a 1956 Chevrolet Corvette. The previous high was 124.63, in a 1955 Ford Thunderbird.

3 Members Of Champion Team Accused

ASHLAND (AP) — Three members of a championship high school basketball team will appear in juvenile court today to face charges they pilfered from automobiles after basketball games.

Besides the juveniles, Ashland police arrested James Hamman 18, also a member of the Shiloh High School basketball squad, and Jack Bard, 21, and Charles Hughes, 18.

The basketball team won the first Richland County basketball title in the history of this village of 700. Shiloh is about 16 miles northwest of Ashland.

Police said the youths admitted stealing automobile tires, blankets and other automotive accessories after games on Feb. 11, 14 and 20.

Coach Harry Daup described the members of his team as "good boys" who "never had been in trouble" previously. He said Shiloh townspeople were "shocked" when they heard of the arrests.

Whether the boys will be permitted to play basketball depends in part on the court action, Daup indicated.

"But we will be able to field a team," he said. Shiloh has a Class B tournament semifinal game scheduled tonight with Butler.

The older youths are charged with grand larceny. They will be arraigned Friday.

City Bowling Tourney Sunday

Double And Single Competition Set

The City Bowling Association will complete its annual tournament Sunday by declaring winners in doubles and singles events and the all-events champion.

There are 96 men scheduled to start bowling at 11 A. M. Sunday and continue on the lanes until all two-man teams and individuals are finished.

With 96 individuals signed up this is the largest tournament ever, according to association secretary Clarence Christman.

There will be 48 teams in the two-man event. But only 81 are entered in the all-event contest, since that takes into account scores rolled in the team event last Sunday.

Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded to the top-place bowlers.

There will be a total of ten trophies awarded by end of the tourney, with trophies going to each man on the championship team, the team sponsor, each man on the winning doubles team, the singles winner and the all-events champ.

THIS IS AN annual City Association tournament, run under regulations set by the American Bowling Congress.

The Association clubs start bowling in September and hit the lanes for 35 weeks, finishing up league play the second week in May.

Besides the tournament champs there will be league winners, with six winners in the men's association.

The league championships are completely separate from the tournament competition.

The six league teams are sponsored by organizations and businesses from Fayette County and beyond. There are teams bowling in the league here from Greenfield, Port William and Sabina as well as closer points outside the city.

Association officers, elected by the members once a year, are Harvey Heironimus, president, Clarence Christman, secretary Hubert Perrill, vice president and Glenn Yerian, treasurer.

4 Ohio Colleges Plan Cage Playoff

CLEVELAND (AP)—Defiance, Central State, Steubenville and Baldwin-Wallace will compete at B-W Gym next Wednesday and Thursday for the right to represent Ohio in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament in Kansas City the week of March 12.

Pairings send Steubenville (21-2) against Defiance (17-1) and Central State (12-5) against Baldwin-Wallace (11-5) on opening night, with the championship and consolation games on Thursday.

Defiance earned an entry spot in the state tournament by winning the Mid-Ohio League title. Its only loss was to Adrian.

Eddie Machen Seen As Hot New Prospect

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The heavyweight boxing ranks boasted a bright new prospect today in young Eddie Machen, who handles his fists and his feet with the speed of a middleweight.

The 22-year-old Redding, Calif., Negro made an impressive national television debut last night, completely befuddling Cuban Julio Mederos in earning an unanimous 10-round decision before a near-capacity crowd at the grand opening of San Francisco Garden.

As impressed as anyone with the showing of the youngster, who racked up his 12th victory without a loss, was Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing Club.

"He looks ready for bigger game," commented Gibson to Sid Flaherty, Machen's manager. "He showed a lot more than I expected from a kid with that little experience."

Gibson and Flaherty expected to confer on a bout between Machen and Nino Valdes, world's third-ranking heavyweight, currently recovering from a nasal operation. Valdes had been scheduled to face Machen, but canceled out because of the nose injury.

196 Standardbreds Bring $127,670

DELAWARE (AP) — A total of $127,670 was paid for 196 trotters and pacers at the two-day Spring Speed Sale of standardbred horses at the fairgrounds here.

Highest price brought yesterday was the $4000 paid for Pastime Mazzy, a 7-year-old pacing mare from the consignment of Donald L. Moran of Madison, Wis.

Edward Morgan of Troy, an agent, was the successful bidder.

W. Va. Tech Paces College Scoring

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—West Virginia Tech continues as the scoring leader among NAIA small college teams, the association's statistical bureau reports.

Tech averaged 104.7 points per game in 17 contests.

Tournament Tactics Tested As Coaches Eye Big Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The trials and tribulations of postseason engagements are beginning to show in college basketball with some coaches putting possible tournament tactics to competitive tests.

Taps Gallagher of Niagara, for instance, deployed his NIT-bound Eagles in a zone defense in the second half while defeating Syracuse 86-80 Wednesday night. It was the first time in 20 years of coaching that Gallagher had resorted to the zone.

And Fred Schaus, in his second year as coach and readying West Virginia for its title defense in the Southern Conference tournament next week, sent the Mountaineers into a full-court press right off the bat for the first time this season in a 97-88 decision over William & Mary.

Niagara had a four-point lead at the half, but Syracuse, which had beaten the Eagles earlier, gained an 80 - all deadlock with 1:13 left in the game. Then Alex Ellis, one of Niagara's sophomore stars, tapped in a rebound and the stalling Eagles eased home. Tommy Hemans, Niagara's steadying senior, was high with 23 points—20 in the second half.

Hot Rod Hundley (who else?) was the big gun for West Virginia. He packed in 31 points as the Mountaineers ended their regular Southern schedule in a first-place tie with George Washington. The champion and NCAA entry, however, will be decided in the three-day tourney opening a week from today at Richmond.

Other strange things happened Wednesday night too. Princeton and Yale struggled through five overtime periods, one short of the major college record, before the Tigers won 79-77 to retain second place in the Ivy League. The first four extra sessions were scoreless. Yale controlled the center jump and held out for a last-second shot. But missed each time.

Princeton, which blew a 15-point lead in the second half, then controlled the fifth extra center jump and outscored Yale 8-6 with Ben Spinelli hitting a hook and jump for the final points.

Elsewhere, the tournament choices gave a better accounting for themselves after losing four of eight Monday and Tuesday. Dayton, ranked fourth in the Associated Press poll and headed for the NIT with Niagara, handed Seattle its most humiliating of nine defeats, 80-48. Seattle, winner of 15 and named today as an NCAA "at-large" entry with Oklahoma City, failed to hit from the field in the first 8 minutes.

Two other NCAA entries bolstered their winning totals. Holy Cross broke Providence's seven-game streak 69-60, and Memphis State defeated Murray (Ky.) State 100-94. Providence held Tom Heinsohn to five field goals, but he still managed 22 points.

In a big tourney-decider, St. Joseph's (Pa.) knocked Temple to its second defeat in 22 games, 77-68.

Dayton Facing 2 Tough Foes Before NIT

East Kentucky, Cincy Stand in Pathway Of Twice-Beaten Flyers

(By The Associated Press)

Only two foes, both formidable, remained on the University of Dayton's basketball schedule today before the fourth-ranked Flyers journey to New York for National Invitational Tournament action.

The high-riding Flyers bagged their 21st success of the season last night with an easy 80-48 triumph over outclassed Seattle. The twice-beaten Dayton quintet has contests remaining with Eastern Kentucky and Cincinnati before the post-season tourney.

Dayton, looking ahead to a possible tussle with Louisville in the NIT, socked the touring Seattle team in effortless fashion.

Big Bill Uhl netted 26 markers to lead a Dayton offense which rolled up a 13-4 lead before the losers could tally a basket. Uhl, in addition to pacing all scorers, picked off 15 rebounds in the 28 minutes he played.

Dayton used all available players, and along with Uhl, Jim Palmer, Jim Paxson and Al Sicking hit in the double figures.

Only Louisville has tarnished the Flyers' gaudy record this season. The Cards tripped Dayton by two points in an overtime last month and nipped the Elyers again last week by a three point margin.

In other action, Miami defeated Marshall 103-82, in an Mid-American Conference game. Marshall already had clinched the conference championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Bill Kennon paced Miami with 27 points while Cebe Price was high for Marshall with 24.

It was Marshall's fourth defeat in 21 games and its second in 12 conference games. Miami is 9-8 for the season and 7-4 in conference play.

Ohio University handed Morehead (Ky) its ninth defeat in 24 games, 113-99. The winning Bobcats set three new school records. The 113 points established new floor and team records. Both previously were 105. And the combined score of 212 points erased the old mark of 190 for the Athens gym.

Dan Swartz, the nation's third leading scorer, plunked in 33 points for the losers.

Ohio now has a 12-9 record.

John Carroll kept alive its hopes for the title tie with Wayne in the President's Conference, as it downed city rival Case Tech 97-82.

Paul Schlimm was high for Carroll with 24 while Joe Girlando hit 29 for Case, losers of its last nine games.

In Ohio Conference action, Denison squeaked by Kenyon 72-69 and Ohio Wesleyan edged Otterbein 91-90.

Bob Brenand paced the Big Red with 22 points and Dan Bumstead led the losers with 21. Denison now stands 11-2 in the conference to Kenyon's 4-7.

Russ Davis sunk 18 of 22 free throws to set a new Ohio Wesleyan record in his team's victory. The lead changed hands 25 times and the score was knotted 15 times in the closely played game.

Jerry Wirth was high for the losers with 34 points while Davis paced Wesleyan with 30.

Otterbein now is 6-12 overall and 6-11 in the conference. Wesleyan stands at 5-14 overall and 4-9 in the loop.

Forward Wynn Hawkins netted 38 points to lead Baldwin-Wallace to a thrilling 121-108 victory over Wittenberg. Center Terry Deems was high for the Lutherans with 32.

It was the Yellow Jackets 11th win in 16 starts while Wittenberg stands at 7-11.

Middlecoff Keeps Role As Favorite

HOUSTON (AP)—After three practice rounds of subpar golf, Cary Middlecoff was a strong favorite today in the first round of the $30,000 Houston Open.

Mike Souchak, defending champion, was rated second but his odds were 5-1 compared with a 3-1 for the former dentist.

Other favorites: Gene Littler, 6-1; Tommy Bolt, 8-1; Lloyd Mangrum, 10-1; and Jimmy Demaret and Jackie Burke Jr. 12-1.

Japs To Buy Trotting Mares Here

Only Trotters Acceptable For Sport In Japan

A couple of leaders in Japan's relatively new sport of harness horse racing today were looking to Fayette County to give them a lift.

M. Sato, the secretary of the Japanese Harness Racing Association, and A. Marutani, a Japanese exporter, came here to buy 30 standardbred mares which they want to send back to Japan.

When they found they could not find that many trotters on the west coast, they were advised to select a qualified representative in Fayette County which would be the headquarters, because this is considered the heart of the harness producing country.

Dudley Moon, a breeder, trainer and race driver here, has been named as that representative. And, Thursday morning he unfolded the background of this unusual enterprise.

Moon, along with Jay Tyson, a representative of the Fasig-Tipton, one of the country's biggest horse sales organizations, have been commissioned by the two Japanese horsemen to buy 18 to 20 mares for export to Japan within the next couple of weeks.

Moon said their horse hunting ground was that vast area east of Springfield, Ill., from lakes to gulf.

He grinned as the commented that he knew of four good mares here that would come up to the standards set by the Japanese.

ALL OF THESE mares, he said, are to be shipped to Washington C. H., from wherever they are bought by Moon and Tyson, and that the two Japanese would then come here to look them over.

Moon said he and Tyson were limited somewhat in their selections: they must be between 3 and 8 years old, have marks of 2:10 to 2:15 and above all, they must be trotters.

Moon went on to explain that the Japanese "just won't have any part of pacers." He said he did not know why.

He said he understood that, since the sport is just getting started in Japan, the Japanese wanted mares with blood lines that would make them good broodmare prospects but that they could not afford to get those with faster marks. This he explained, narrows the field to choose from but he emphasized that a fast race record is not essential to a good producing mare.

However, Moon said he understood that these mares would be raced for a time when they first arrive in Japan. He commented that while they would not be fast enough to race in the United States successfully, they would be good enough to put on a good race meeting in Japan because they would all be in the same time bracket.

MOON SAID that he and Tyson would keep their eyes open for a good sire or two. But, there is a strict taboo on geldings as well as pacers. The Japanese are interested, he said, only in trotting mares.

Moon declined to say what he though the mares could be bought for, but he commented that "they will cost them plenty before they get them to Japan." the reference, of course, was the shipping cost.

He said, too, that the Japanese were wanting a horseman to make the voyage to Japan with the horses. It would be a three-month trip, he said and added that "I'd like to go, but I just couldn't take that much time".

The standardbred horse sale at Delaware Tuesday and Wednesday shed some light on the price of harness race horses.

Five from Fayette County were sold—one by Ray Garrity, one by Gene Bock, one by Frank Junk, one by Moon (Song Baby a 4-year-old pacer for $2,800) and one by Mrs. Tom McCoy (a 2-year-old sister to Sunset Bay for $1,800).

At the two-day sale, 196 horse went on the auction block and brought a total of $127,760. The top price was $10,000.

Added Power In Cars Told In Speed Test

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Increased power of U. S. built sports and passenger cars is apparent in speed records they set on the beach here yesterday.

Tim Flock of Atlanta, Ga., drove a 1956 Chrysler 300B faster than any American stock car had ever been clocked in a two-way run over the measured mile on the ocean sand—139.91 miles an hour.

The National Assn. for Stock Car Automobile Racing set up a new classification of unlimited piston displacement for the new powerful cars. Flock's mark automatically became a record in that division.

The fastest previous time for an American strictly stock car in these trials was 127.58 mph set last year in a 1953 Chrysler 300.

This became a record in the middle bracket class and immediately was erased Wednesday by Danny Eames of Detroit. He drove a Dodge 500D at an average of 130.57 mph.

The record for smaller passenger cars was raised to 121.336 mph by Murray Hartley of Erie, Pa., driving a 1956 Chevrolet Powerpack, eclipsing the old record of 112.29 by a 1955 DeSoto.

Zora Arkus-Duntov, Detroit test driver, set a new high for modified American sports cars, driving a modified 1956 Chevrolet Corvette 147.29 mph. The old record was 127.38.

The record for U. S. production sports cars went up to 146.08 mph on a run by John Fitch of Stamford, Conn., in a 1956 Chevrolet Corvette. The previous high was 124.63, in a 1955 Ford Thunderbird.

3 Members Of Champion Team Accused

ASHLAND (AP) — Three members of a championship high school basketball team will appear in juvenile court today to face charges they pilfered from automobiles after basketball games.

Besides the juveniles, Ashland police arrested James Hamman 18, also a member of the Shiloh High School basketball squad, and Jack Bard, 21, and Charles Hughes, 18.

The basketball team won the first Richland County basketball title in the history of this village of 700. Shiloh is about 16 miles northwest of Ashland.

Police said the youths admitted stealing automobile tires, blankets and other automotive accessories after games on Feb. 11, 14 and 20.

Coach Harry Daup described the members of his team as "good boys" who "never had been in trouble" previously. He said Shiloh townspeople were "shocked" when they heard of the arrests.

Whether the boys will be permitted to play basketball depends in part on the court action, Daup indicated.

"But we will be able to field a team," he said. Shiloh has a Class B tournament semifinal game scheduled tonight with Butler.

The older youths are charged with grand larceny. They will be arraigned Friday.

4 Ohio Colleges Plan Cage Playoff

CLEVELAND (AP)—Defiance, Central State, Steubenville and Baldwin-Wallace will compete at B-W Gym next Wednesday and Thursday for the right to represent Ohio in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament in Kansas City the week of March 12.

Pairings send Steubenville (21-2) against Defiance (17-1) and Central State (12-5) against Baldwin-Wallace (11-5) on opening night, with the championship and consolation games on Thursday.

Defiance earned an entry spot in the state tournament by winning the Mid-Ohio League title. Its only loss was to Adrian.

Milwaukee Brave catcher Del Crandall has been on the last three National League All - Star teams.

City Bowling Tourney Sunday

Double And Single Competition Set

The City Bowling Association will complete its annual tournament Sunday by declaring winners in doubles and singles events and the all-events champion.

There are 96 men scheduled to start bowling at 11 A. M. Sunday and continue on the lanes until all two-man teams and individuals are finished.

With 96 individuals signed up this is the largest tournament ever, according to association secretary Clarence Christman.

There will be 48 teams in the two-man event. But only 81 are entered in the all-event contest, since that takes into account scores rolled in the team event last Sunday.

Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded to the top-place bowlers.

There will be a total of ten trophies awarded by end of the tourney, with trophies going to each man on the championship team, the team sponsor, each man on the winning doubles team, the singles winner and the all-events champ.

THIS IS AN annual City Association tournament, run under regulations set by the American Bowling Congress.

The Association clubs start bowling in September and hit the lanes for 35 weeks, finishing up league play the second week in May.

Besides the tournament champs there will be league winners, with six winners in the men's association.

The league championships are completely separate from the tournament competition.

The six league teams are sponsored by organizations and businesses from Fayette County and beyond. There are teams bowling in the league here from Greenfield, Port William and Sabina as well as closer points outside the city.

Association officers, elected by the members once a year, are Harvey Heironimus, president, Clarence Christman, secretary Hubert Perrill, vice president and Glenn Yerian, treasurer.

Eddie Machen Seen As Hot New Prospect

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The heavyweight boxing ranks boasted a bright new prospect today in young Eddie Machen, who handles his fists and his feet with the speed of a middleweight.

The 22-year-old Redding, Calif., Negro made an impressive national television debut last night, completely befuddling Cuban Julio Mederos in earning an unanimous 10-round decision before a near-capacity crowd at the grand opening of San Francisco Garden.

As impressed as anyone with the showing of the youngster, who racked up his 12th victory without a loss, was Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing Club.

"He looks ready for bigger game," commented Gibson to Sid Flaherty, Machen's manager. "He showed a lot more than I expected from a kid with that little experience."

Gibson and Flaherty expected to confer on a bout between Machen and Nino Valdes, world's third-ranking heavyweight, currently recovering from a nasal operation. Valdes had been scheduled to face Machen, but canceled out because of the nose injury.

Machen, amazingly fast for his 193 pounds, kept a sharp left jab in Mederos' face all night, throwing the Cuban off balance. The young Californian's footwork and bobbing and weaving defense made Mederos miss consistently.

196 Standardbreds Bring $127,670

DELAWARE (AP) — A total of $127,670 was paid for 196 trotters and pacers at the two-day Spring Speed Sale of standardbred horses at the fairgrounds here.

Highest price brought yesterday was the $4000 paid for Pastime Mazzy, a 7-year-old pacing mare from the consignment of Donald L. Moran of Madison, Wis.

Edward Morgan of Troy, an agent, was the successful bidder.

W. Va. Tech Paces College Scoring

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—West Virginia Tech continues as the scoring leader among NAIA small college teams, the association's statistical bureau reports.

Tech averaged 104.7 points per game in 17 contests.

Tournament Tactics Tested As Coaches Eye Big Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The trials and tribulations of postseason engagements are beginning to show in college basketball with some coaches putting possible tournament tactics to competitive tests.

Taps Gallagher of Niagara, for instance, deployed his NIT-bound Eagles in a zone defense in the second half while defeating Syracuse 86-80 Wednesday night. It was the first time in 20 years of coaching that Gallagher had resorted to the zone.

And Fred Schaus, in his second year as coach and readying West Virginia for its title defense in the Southern Conference tournament next week, sent the Mountaineers into a full-court press right off the bat for the first time this season in a 97-88 decision over William & Mary.

Niagara had a four-point lead at the half, but Syracuse, which had beaten the Eagles earlier, gained an 80 - all deadlock with 1:13 left in the game. Then Alex Ellis, one of Niagara's sophomore stars, tapped in a rebound and the stalling Eagles eased home. Tommy Hemans, Niagara's steadying senior, was high with 23 points—20 in the second half.

Hot Rod Hundley (who else?) was the big gun for West Virginia. He packed in 31 points as the Mountaineers ended their regular Southern schedule in a first-place tie with George Washington. The champion and NCAA entry, however, will be decided in the three-day tourney opening a week from today at Richmond.

Other strange things happened Wednesday night too. Princeton and Yale struggled through five overtime periods, one short of the major college record, before the Tigers won 79-77 to retain second place in the Ivy League. The first four extra sessions were scoreless. Yale controlled the center jump and held out for a last-second shot. But missed each time.

Princeton, which blew a 15-point lead in the second half, then controlled the fifth extra center jump and outscored Yale 8-6 with Ben Spinelli hitting a hook and jump for the final points.

Elsewhere, the tournament choices gave a better accounting for themselves after losing four of eight Monday and Tuesday. Dayton, ranked fourth in the Associated Press poll and headed for the NIT with Niagara, handed Seattle its most humiliating of nine defeats, 80-48. Seattle, winner of 15 and named today as an NCAA "at-large" entry with Oklahoma City, failed to hit from the field in the first 8 minutes.

Two other NCAA entries bolstered their winning totals. Holy Cross broke Providence's seven-game streak 69-60, and Memphis State defeated Murray (Ky.) State 100-94. Providence held Tom Heinsohn to five field goals, but he still managed 22 points.

In a big tourney-decider, St. Joseph's (Pa.) knocked Temple to its second defeat in 22 games, 77-68.

Beckett Named Hamilton Mayor

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Veteran city councilman Edward Beckett took over today as mayor of Hamilton.

The council had been deadlocked on the election of a mayor by the refusal of two independent members to support candidates of the two local political groups.

Historical Society Renewals Over 175

George Pensyl president of the Fayette County Historical Society, announced Thursday that so far more than 175 renewals of membership in the organization have been received as result of notices recently mailed to members.

Indications are that the number will mount to over 200 within a short time, and later on a membership drive is expected to boost the number materially.

President Pensyl also stated that anyone who is not now a member of the historical society, but wishes to become a member, will be welcomed into the society.

Annual membership dues are $1 and life members $25, he explained.

Lisk Will Erect New City Building

The Lisk Construction Co. headed by Robert Lisk will erect the new pre-fabricated steel building for the city, City Manager James F. Parkinson announced Thursday. The building is to be a Steelox, which is manufactured in Washington C. H. by the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Co.

The building will be erected at the extreme north end of Fayette Street on a lot purchased by the city last fall. It will house street machinery and other equipment which is now exposed to the weather.

The building material will be moved to the scene Monday of next week and work on the structure will start within a day or two.

An ordinance to appropriate $800 for the work of erecting the building, was introduced in city council Wednesday night.

No Seepage About Reservoir Banks

Although the 40-acre reservoir of The Ohio Water Service Co. is full of water to within a few feet of the top, its thick clay walls have shown no seepage at any point.

However, it was not expected that seepage would develop inasmuch as the earthen walls were packed by the heavy machinery used in building them.

Present plans call for having the pumping, filtration and softening plant ready for use about April 15. The new water will enter the mains then with only about five grains of hardness, which is rated "soft", instead of some 23 grains of hardness as at present.

Discussion Held By F. B. Council

Agreement Reached On 6 of 7 Questions

Seven questions of primary interest to farmers were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Madison Township Farm Bureau Council meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight King on the Bloomingburg-White Oak Pike but on only one were the 10 members of the council unable to come to an agreement.

The meeting was opened with a reading of the 37th Psalm by Mrs. Homer Wilson and the group repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

An article in the Ohio Farmer, "Over the Back Fence," was read to get the evening started. It dealt with a variety of subjects, but was largely concerned with the relation of farm problems to the foreign policy.

Mrs. King opened the discussion period with the question: "Who Made the Money on Your Hogs? The discussion centered around the part the packers play in getting pork to the consumer and the profit they make. In summing up, Mrs. King said the consensus was that the profits of the packers were more than 15 percent above their profits the previous year.

THE SIX other questions taken up by the Council came from the Farm Bureau in the Advisory Council Guide and of the six, the one on which the group could not agree was: "Have We Invested Enough Money in Our Cooperatives To Make Them Big Enough To Work for Us?" Some thought the investment was enough, some did not.

Conclusions on the other five questions were:

"Can Your Cooperative Continue To Set the Pace in Ohio?" They agreed it can.

"How Strong Are Our Cooperatives?" The Council thought they were strong, all right, but they could, and should, be stronger.

"Is the Control of Our Cooperatives Democratic?" The group agreed that it is and added that it was essential that it should be.

"How Much Are Patronage Dividends Helping Meet the Cost-Price Squeeze?" They thought it was helping, but did not determine to what degree.

"What Can We Do To Make Our Cooperatives Serve Our Needs Better?" The consensus was that attendance at meetings such as this one and patronizing them would help the service of the cooperatives.

At the close of the discussion period, Mr. and Mrs. King served refreshments while the talk turned into the less serious channels.

The next meeting of the Council is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Schlichter on the Prairie Pike.

Sherift Orland Hays is in receipt of a letter from C. B. Vincent of Brownsville, Ky., asking him to locate Mrs. Rachel Vincent, who is said to live in Fayette County. If he can locate her, he was asked to tell her that her mother-in-law is very ill and wants to see her.

So far Sheriff Hays has been unable to locate Mrs. Vincent and asks that any information regarding her be telephoned to him at once.

Salt On Highways Rusts Auto Tags

Apparently the paint on the 1955 auto tags was too thin to withstand the drenching with salt water resulting when the streets and highways were liberally sprinkled with salt during some of the ice and snow this winter.

A great many of the license plates have rusted so badly that much of the paint has vanished, and the tags appear to be years old.

Motorists are hoping that the 1956 issue of license plates will be more salt-resistant than many of the thinly-coated tags of the past year, or if not, that it will be not necessary to use so much salt to eliminate slippery highways and streets next winter.

WHS Boosters Plan Meeting

To Discuss Needs At Gardner Park

Grover Taylor was named to the executive committee of the Washington C. H. High School Boosters Club when that committee met this week in the office of president Mac Dews, Jr.

Two items of discussion brought up at that meeting will be continued 7 P. M. Monday when the group meets again at the Dews Insurance office.

The Boosters Club will be taking over the sale of programs at football games this coming season. In the past, the nigh school has had the programs printed and sold—and lost money.

The club or organization at the high school which will distribute the programs will be decided upon at the meeting Monday—if it is held.

Coach Fred Domenico has been contacting school organizations to find a group to sell the programs.

If the Washington C. H. basketball sqad happens to draw Monday for its first district tournament game in Columbus, the Boosters meeting will be postponed. If there is a game, Domenico will be there—not at the Booster's club meeting—it was pointed out.

Also discussed and scheduled for . ore discussion was the need for new lights and expansion of the stadium at Gardner Park.

Dews stressed that, at this point, general discussion is as far as the group has gotten.

He said that, while the executive committee has final voting power, members would be glad to have comments and suggestions at the meeting from non-voting Boosters.

Lisk Will Erect New City Building

The Lisk Construction Co. headed by Robert Lisk will erect the new pre-fabricated steel building for the city, City Manager James F. Parkinson announced Thursday. The building is to be a Steelox, which is manufactured in Washington C. H. by the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Co.

The building will be erected at the extreme north end of Fayette Street on a lot purchased by the city last fall. It will house street machinery and other equipment which is now exposed to the weather.

The building material will be moved to the scene Monday of next week and work on the structure will start within a day or two.

An ordinance to appropriate $800 for the work of erecting the building, was introduced in city council Wednesday night.

Discussion Held By F. B. Council

Agreement Reached On 6 of 7 Questions

Seven questions of primary interest to farmers were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Madison Township Farm Bureau Council meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight King on the Bloomingburg-White Oak Pike but on only one were the 10 members of the council unable to come to an agreement.

The meeting was opened with a reading of the 37th Psalm by Mrs. Homer Wilson and the group repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

An article in the Ohio Farmer, "Over the Back Fence," was read to get the evening started. It dealt with a variety of subjects, but was largely concerned with the relation of farm problems to the foreign policy.

Mrs. King opened the discussion period with the question: "Who Made the Money on Your Hogs? The discussion centered around the part the packers play in getting pork to the consumer and the profit they make. In summing up, Mrs. King said the consensus was that the profits of the packers were more than 15 percent above their profits the previous year.

THE SIX other questions taken up by the Council came from the Farm Bureau in the Advisory Council Guide and of the six, the one on which the group could not agree was: "Have We Invested Enough Money in Our Cooperatives To Make Them Big Enough To Work for Us?" Some thought the investment was enough, some did not.

Conclusions on the other five questions were:

"Can Your Cooperative Continue To Set the Pace in Ohio?" They agreed it can.

"How Strong Are Our Cooperatives?" The Council thought they were strong, all right, but they could, and should, be stronger.

"Is the Control of Our Cooperatives Democratic?" The group agreed that it is and added that it was essential that it should be.

"How Much Are Patronage Dividends Helping Meet the Cost-Price Squeeze?" They thought it was helping, but did not determine to what degree.

"What Can We Do To Make Our Cooperatives Serve Our Needs Better?" The consensus was that attendance at meetings such as this one and patronizing them would help the service of the cooperatives.

At the close of the discussion period, Mr. and Mrs. King served refreshments while the talk turned into the less serious channels.

Sherift Orland Hays is in receipt of a letter from C. B. Vincent of Brownsville, Ky., asking him to locate Mrs. Rachel Vincent, who is said to live in Fayette County. If he can locate her, he was asked to tell her that her mother-in-law is very ill and wants to see her.

So far Sheriff Hays has been unable to locate Mrs. Vincent and asks that any information regarding her be telephoned to him at once.

Salt On Highways Rusts Auto Tags

Apparently the paint on the 1955 auto tags was too thin to withstand the drenching with salt water resulting when the streets and highways were liberally sprinkled with salt during some of the ice and snow this winter.

A great many of the license plates have rusted so badly that much of the paint has vanished, and the tags appear to be years old.

Motorists are hoping that the 1956 issue of license plates will be more salt-resistant than many of the thinly-coated tags of the past year, or if not, that it will be not necessary to use so much salt to eliminate slippery highways and streets next winter.

WHS Boosters Plan Meeting

To Discuss Needs At Gardner Park

Grover Taylor was named to the executive committee of the Washington C. H. High School Boosters Club when that committee met this week in the office of president Mac Dews, Jr.

Two items of discussion brought up at that meeting will be continued 7 P. M. Monday when the group meets again at the Dews Insurance office.

The Boosters Club will be taking over the sale of programs at football games this coming season. In the past, the nigh school has had the programs printed and sold—and lost money.

The club or organization at the high school which will distribute the programs will be decided upon at the meeting Monday—if it is held.

Coach Fred Domenico has been contacting school organizations to find a group to sell the programs.

If the Washington C. H. basketball sqad happens to draw Monday for its first district tournament game in Columbus, the Boosters meeting will be postponed. If there is a game, Domenico will be there—not at the Booster's club meeting—it was pointed out.

Also discussed and scheduled for . ore discussion was the need for new lights and expansion of the stadium at Gardner Park.

Dews stressed that, at this point, general discussion is as far as the group has gotten.

He said that, while the executive committee has final voting power, members would be glad to have comments and suggestions at the meeting from non-voting Boosters.
